Allied Veto Of U.S. Bomb Opposed By Key Senators

Producers May Ask John L. Lewis For Soft Coal Pay Cut

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some soft coal producers were reported today considering asking John L. Lewis for a miners' wage cut but the big employer organizations which do the bargaining with Lewis are believed opposed to the idea.

Lewis, just back from a month-long vacation in Florida, is certain to fight any such proposal.

Still, the industry is seeing hard days. Production began to fall off with the loss of the industry's export market when war-wrecked European mines were put back into operation. Now the business downturn, particularly as it affected the steel industry, is depressing coal even more.

Down 16 Per Cent

Coal production during the first three months of this year was down 16 per cent from last year, which was a poor year, too. Output for the first quarter is estimated by the Bureau of Mines at 90 million tons compared with 107 million in 1953.

Sagging production is hurting the mine owners, who pay members of Lewis' Unnted Mine Workers union a basic daily wage of nearly $20. Mines are averaging only two or three days work a week. Steel mills are producing nearly enough in their own coal mines to take care of their reduced mill demand, without buying from commercial mine operators as the steel industry normally does.

The commercial mine owners who want lower pay rates figure that perhaps they can sell more coal cheaper if their costs are reduced.

Too Much Competition

But Harry Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Producers Assn., representing the main bulk of the union-organized mines outside the south, is known to oppose

Traitors In U.S. Delayed H-Bomb, McCarthy Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he knows nothing about an 18-month delay in hydrogen bomb development as charged by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). The President also said he always has regarded commentator Edward R. Murrow, assailed by McCarthy, as a friend.

By WATSON SIMS

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) says research on America's hydrogen bomb was deliberately stalled for 18 months in the face of reports that Russia was "feverishly" pushing a similar project.

"If there were no Communists in our government, why did we delay?" McCarthy asked Tuesday night in a telecast billed as a reply to criticism of the senator by CBS commentator Edward R. Murrow.

Called Jackal Pack

The H-bomb reference was interjected into an attack in which McCarthy termed Murrow "the leader and the cleverest of the jackal pack which is always found at the throat of anyone who dares to expose Communists and traitors."

"Who caused it?" McCarthy demanded of the alleged H-bomb delay. "Was it loyal Americans or was it traitors in our government?"

"Our nation may well die because of that 18-month deliberate delay," he added.

McCarthy's statement was called "absolutely ridiculous" by Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill), a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

"He doesn't know what he's talking about," Price said in Washington. "He showed complete ignorance."

Price said there may have been some delay in getting the H-bomb project started, but "certainly not for the reasons" McCarthy indicated.

Murrow Answers

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Atomic Committee, said this country took "a long time" on the decision to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb."

"But that does not mean there was anything sinister necessarily," he added.

The Atomic Energy Commission declined to comment.

The H-bomb statement was a by-product of McCarthy's reply to charges by Murrow that he has abused his authority as a Senate investigator.

Murrow attacked McCarthy on March 9. He offered to turn his 30-minute See It Now show over to the senator for his reply. The answer was filmed over the weekend and telecast while McCarthy was in Arizona.

Although the film was kept secret until shortly before air time, Murrow, through sources he declined to divulge, obtained knowledge of the charges and drew up a reply which was released at the time of the telecast.

CBS said first listener reaction, via telephone calls and telegrams, was "overwhelmingly" in favor of Murrow.

House Divided On Wire Tapping

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House split sharply today over an administration bill to give the attorney general authority to tap wires in espionage cases and to legalize information so obtained as evidence in federal courts.

As the House called up the controversial measure for action, most Democrats lined up behind a substitute proposal to require the attorney general to get a court order before authorizing any tapping Both sides forecast passage of some form of wiretapping bill before nightfall.

The primary purpose of the bill is to legalize the use of wiretapped information in the federal courts as evidence in prosecuting espionage, treason and sabotage caues, or any conspiracy involving the national security. Such evidence is not now admissible in the federal courts.

Rep. Willis (D-La), author of the court order substitute, told newsmen there was "no difference of opinion over the necessity for wiretap legislation."

Vote On 80 Million Korean Bonus Up To People Of Michigan

LANSING (AP)—A state bonus for Michigan residents who served in the armed forces during the Korean War rolled through the House Tuesday and is now up to the people.

The proposal to issue an 80 million dollar bond issue to pay the bonus will appear on the November ballot.

The proposed constitutional amendment was opposed by only two Representatives when the chips were down. The only no votes were cast by Reps. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor) and Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe).

Christman said the bonus was being approved "for vote-getting purposes only."

Maximum $500

Betz objected to the proposal on the grounds that it made no provision for the six or seven million dollars it will take annually to pay off the bond issue plus the estimated 20 million dollar interest costs.

The measure was defended vigorously by Reps. Williams. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), Peter J. Kelly (D-Detroit) and John D. Kruse (R-Manistee).

The proposed payment of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 overseas up to $500 between June 27, 1950, and Dec. 31, 1953, was little enough for those who sacrificed their time in civilian life and placed their lives in jeopardy, they said.

At the same time, the House passed a bill exempting from local taxation houses especially built and occupied by disabled veterans. The measure will apply to only about 90 such persons in the state.

Pension For Judges

A House committee reported for debate today proposed constitutional amendment extending the terms of state and county officers from two to four years and reducing the voting age from 21 to 19.

Judges profited by two Senate-approved measures passed by the House.

One bill would increase the state's contribution to the salaries of Circuit, Recorders and Superior Court judges from $9,000 to $12,500 a year.

The other would set up a pension system for Probate judges under which they could get pensions up to $4,000 a year.

Indiana-Illinois Farm Area Too Dry For Spring Planting

CHICAGO (AP)—County agents in southern Indiana and southern Illinois report a serious shortage in subsoil water, estimating that between 5 and 29 inches of rain is needed by June for corn and soybean crops.

This was disclosed Tuesday by the magazine, Prairie Farmer, which published a survey of its interviews with county agents.

Because of the drought, spring planting was far advanced in many areas and was nearly complete in Monroe County, Ind., and Richland County, Illinois.

Agents in Wisconsin, lower Michigan, northern Illinois and northern Indiana reported subsoil moisture is adequate.

Candidate Blanked

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — E. M. Flood, running for re-election in Tuesday's City Council balloting at suburban Warr Acres, didn't get a single vote.

He was out of town and his wife forgot it was election day. His opponent won with 17 votes.

Farm Machinery Employment On Gain For Spring

CHICAGO (AP) — There's been some pick up in employment at the farm equipment manufacturing plants now that spring is here. But they still are employing fewer than a year ago.

International Harvester Co., biggest manufacturer, today reported a slow upward climb in employment since last December, which was just about the low point, and a spokesman said the company was more optimistic about prospects.

Low In December

Harvester employment was down to 49,895 in its manufacturing plants last December. The company announced today it had recalled more than 6,700 employes in the last four months at 16 of its 20 plants. It reported such employment now totals 56,611, the greatest number since last August.

A year ago Harvester's employment rolls totaled about 70,000, but the company said that was abnormally high. Harvester was shut down by a strike from August to November, 1952, and was operating at high levels a year ago to make up the lost production.

A spokesman for Deere & Co. said employment of that company at its main plant in the Moline, Illinois, area was about normal for this time of year. It is lower than a year ago, however.

Defense Orders Slowed

Deere had approximately 1,150 people on lay-offs last Dec. 1. Most of these have been recalled. Some, however, did not come back and there also have been resignations and deaths in the total labor force.

Deere has a total labor force in the Moline area now of about 7,600 people, which the company said was slightly below a year ago.

Alva W. Phelps, chairman of Oliver Corp., recently told stockholders at the annual meeting that employment at the company's plants has not been expanded because of stretchouts of defense orders.

A spokesman for the J. I. Case Co. at Racine, Wis., said employment there had reached the bottom point around the end of last year and now is on the upgrade.

OUT — Marshal Alphonse Juin, striped of all his French defense posts, also resigned as NATO commander of all central European land, sea and air forces. He plans to join Gen. Charles de Gaulle in an all-out fight against the European army plan.

Railroads Shift Ore Mine Tracks

LANSING (AP) — Two railroads serving mines in the Upper Peninsula's iron country were given permission to relocate a jointly-operated track today by the State Public Service Commission.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and the Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee and Pacific Railroad sought to relocate the track.

They contended part of it was undermined by crumbling of mines operated by the Hannah Co.

The Jones Mining Co., which operates north of Iron River, had protested the relocation, declaring the railroads should continue to serve its mine.

The commission ruled that the tracks could be relocated, but not abandoned. The companies were instructed to construct a spur track to property of the Jones Mining Co.

Cutter Tackles St. Marys River

CLEVELAND (AP)—The ice breaker Mackinaw—bucking the thickest ice in 10 years—starts work today on the St. Mary's River.

The Coast Guard told the Lake Carriers' Association Tuesday ice conditions in the river are worse now for this time of year than in any similar period in the past 10 years.

Starting in the river's lower waters, the breaker will attempt to reach Neebish Island where ice is reported from 17 to 19 inches thick.

Ice in the river, said the Guard, is solid from above the Sault Ste. Marie locks to Point Iroquois.

No ships are expected to try to reach Lake Superior from the lower Great Lakes in the near future.

Two Detroit Gunmen Trapped By FBI In $52,300 Bank Theft

DETROIT (AP)—The FBI captured two young gunmen in a well-executed raid on a suburban Dearborn home Tuesday and charged them with a $52,300 bank holdup. Not a shot was fired.

The FBI identified the pair as Hugh Thomas Cox, 21, a Pontiac ex-convict, and James J. Minder, Jr., 24 onetime University of Michigan student.

Injured In Jump

Agents said about $45,700 of the loot taken in the mid-afternoon holdup of the Dearborn branch of the Manufacturers National Bank last Friday was recovered.

Cox, in a frustrated final bid to escape, jumped 18 feet to the ground from a window of the upstairs flat in a small frame bungalow. He dislocated his shoulder when he landed under the guns of the waiting agents.

Minder gave up without a fight in the flat he had rented two months ago.

The men were arraigned later before Detroit Federal Judge Arthur A. Koscinski on bank robbery charges. They failed to post bond of $50,000 apiece.

Father Gives Tipoff

Nineteen-year-old Barbara Parker, identified by agents as the common-law wife of Minder also was arrested. She was held for questioning.

Fred H. McIntire, chief agent in charge of the Detroit office, led the raiding party.

The raiding party was accompanied by Minder's father, James J. Sr., 47. He had told the FBI where his son lived.

The father, a Ford Motor Co. engineer, said the youth never had been in trouble until the family had moved to Detroit from Massachusetts four years ago.

Police described Minder as "an ambitious young holdup artist who was sure to go bigtime."

Era Of Atomic Weapons Breaks Old Agreement

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key senators of both parties made it clear today they are opposed to giving Great Britain or any other ally a veto on American use of the hydrogen bomb.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) pointed up the issue with a declaration in the Senate Tuesday that former President Truman was "not correct" in saying that a World War II American-British agreement not to use the atomic bomb without the other's consent still was in effect.

Truman Won't Comment

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, "Sen. Hickenlooper is correct."

Truman, in Kansas City, had "no comment" on Hickenlooper's contradiction of his statement, but said, "The record speaks for itself." Truman and others agreed the 1943 understanding would not cover the H-bomb.

Asserting that Hickenlooper was "absolutely right," Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said in an interview that the agreement was "not satisfactory and was changed." He added that he wants no future agreement of that kind.

British officials have given their opinion that the former agreement no longer holds.

Must Strike Back

"Any agreement that gives any other nation a veto on our use of atomic weapons, on which our very existence may exist, cannot be justified," Knowland declared.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that as he understands the Eisenhower administration's military policy "there will be no massive retaliation unless the Russians attack us."

"If we have time to consult with our allies, well and good," he said. "But if we are attacked, we will strike back and there will be no time for any consultation."

But Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said "I certainly think Britain should be consulted before we use the hydrogen bomb," and added:

"In fact, I think the decision on its use ought to be made through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Kefauver's apparently was a minority voice among his colleagues.

War On Lamprey Eel Receives $250,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—On motion of Rep. Knox (R-Mich), the House has earmarked $250,000 of the Interior Department's appropriation for research for lamprey eel eradication work in the Great Lakes.

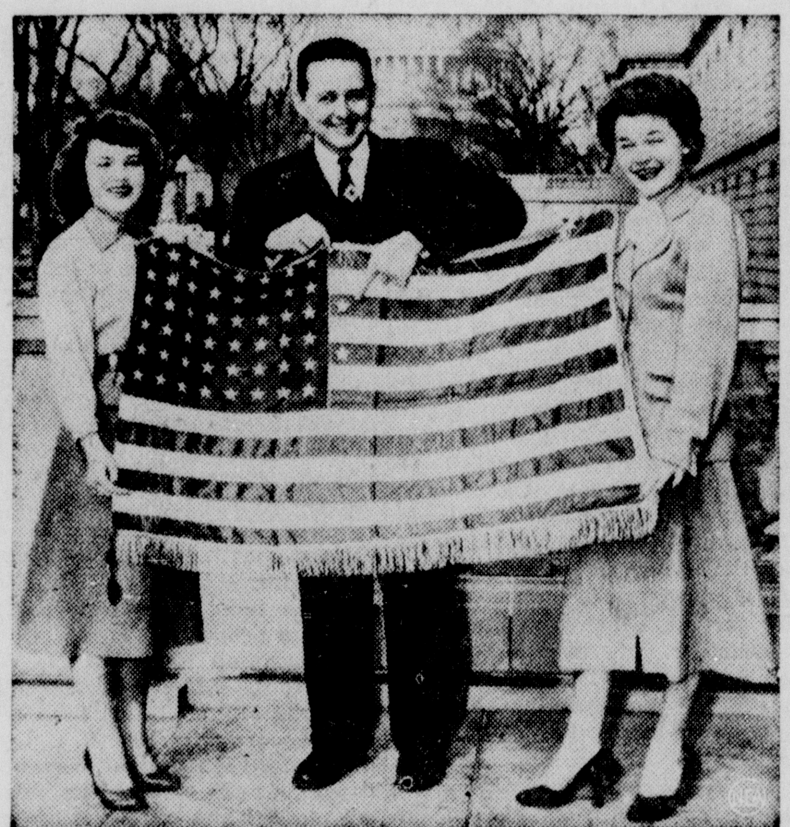
The bill, carrying a total of $364,337,989, now goes to the Senate.

Concoction Fatal

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Burdett Watts, 13, died in agony Tuesday night 30 minutes after drinking a concoction he mixed with his toy chemistry set. An autopsy is planned.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Friendship, business, democracy and hash all depend on man's faith in his fellowmen.



STAR-SPANGLED SOLUTION—Rep. Craig Hosner (R., Calif.) center, has introduced a bill in the House offering this design for a new flag, if Alaska and Hawaii are admitted to the Union. Conceived by C. Parker Ruff, of Long Beach, Calif., placement of the stars outside the blue field could save some fifty million dollars in flag replacements. Secretaries Pearl Ledford, left, and Janice Hall help hold the flag.

Small Navy Assembled To Start Building Of Huge Mackinac Bridge

ST. IGNACE (AP)—A small navy is being gathered to build the gigantic Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

Construction men say it is the largest concentration of marine equipment ever assembled for a civilian project.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. has purchased nearly $5 million worth of new equipment for the first part of the job.

Fleet of 14 Barges

Waiting for the ice to break up in the straits is the navy — the vanguard of 14 barges, the huge cement boats which will mix cement continuously once construction starts.

They'll be joined by the growing assortment of cranes, derricks, whirleys, tugs, repair boats, and supervisory launches.

The company expects to have tower and cable construction underway by 1955.

To handle the fleet, the company has ordered two 1,000-foot causeways. One will fit on the southside of the straits to form a protected marine basin. The other is being built into St. Ignace harbor on the north shore of the bay.

Borings Start Soon

Then causeways will permit unloading in navigable water — so big ships can dock safely.

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Bridge Authority, said borings would be started by mid-April to plan technical details of the bridge's base. On the north shore, a mile long causeway, built in 1942, will be used as part of the bridge itself.

Besides the navy and the docking facilities, a small town is rising two miles outside of St. Ignace.

The town will be occupied this month. It will be the first step in the building of the bridge, the largest from end to end in the world.

Challenge Faced By Free Nations

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas today threw Democratic weight behind a demand by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) that the free nations "step up and be counted" on measures to resist Communist aggression in Indochina.

Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, praised Knowland's stand in an interview and added:

"We are at the crossroads of foreign policy right now. We're either going to have collective security or we are going to know where we stand."

Knowland, the GOP leader, told the Senate Tuesday in a debate sparked by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) that "the free nations of the world cannot ignore or sidestep" any entry in force by Red China into Indochina.

"If the free nations really believe in collective security, now is the time to step up and be counted," he declared.

President Eisenhower has earmarked nearly one third of next year's $3,497,000,000 foreign aid budget for military and economic help to Indochina. The budget, sent to Congress Tuesday, cuts foreign aid funds over a billion dollars, including a slash of 58 per cent in European assistance.

Air Force Requests $8,600,000 To Build Traverse City Base

Traverse City (AP) — The Air Force is seeking an $8,600,000 appropriation to begin construction of a jet base near Traverse City, Rep. Ruth Thompson (R-Mich) said Tuesday.

Air Force surveying teams have selected a site approximately eight miles southwest of Traverse City on the western edge of Long Lake.

Air Force plans call for construction of a base for a 25-plane jet wing.

They will be charged with the protection of the vital Soo Locks, Great Lakes shipping and industry in Michigan and neighboring states.

Indochina Front Reported 'Calm'

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) —The lull in the Communist-led Vietminh's infantry assaults on battered Dien Bien Phu passed the 48-hour mark today. For the second successive morning, a terse French communique announced "last night was calm" at the northwest Indochina bastion.

The calm was relative, however, as rebel artillery and mortar batteries and the French long-range guns kept up their sporadic firing.

Fresh rebel activity was reported in the Kingdom of Laos, whose sister state of Cambodia was invaded last week. A dispatch from Vientiane, the Laotian capital said Vietminh forces operating near the Mekong River in southern Laos had attacked the town of Moulapamok, in a rice growing area 15 miles north of the Cambodian frontier. National guardsmen were reported to have been battling the rebels 48 hours.

In Paris, the French Foreign Ministry said France several days ago had urgently requested more American assistance in the war, especially planes and aviation material. The United States aid now amounts to about a billion dollars a year.)

Bill To Boost Idle Pay Held Up In Lansing

LANSING (AP) — The House appeared today to be standing fast against Senate attempts to compromise on increased unemployment compensation.

With final adjournment scheduled for Friday, a caucus of Senate Republicans proposed an informal committee of seven senators ans seven representatives to work out a compromise before the Senate attempts to act on a House-approved bill which is more liberal than the Senate previously passed.

The Senate originally passed a bill increasing the present maximum jobless benefits for a man with four children from $35 to $39 a week, providing no increase for single men and containing a number of disqualification clauses objectionable to organized labor.

The House, rejecting the Senate bill, brought out its own version which provides single men's maxima, of $31, a top of $43 for a family of four children and eliminates most of the disqualifications.

The Republican steamroller in the Senate golled over Detroit Democrats and passed 23-8 a bill forbidding super-fortification of milk. It must go back to the House for concurrence in amendments.

The Senate killed a new school code which represented months of work by legislators and a special committee of 30 educators and interested citizens.

Russia Returns Seized Soldiers

By TOM STONE

FULDA, Germany (AP)—Two U. S. soldiers held 30 hours in the Soviet zone of Germany said today they refused to give their Russian captors military information although they were warned they would be "dealt with as spies."

'I just gave them the old 'canned answers'—my name, rank and serial number," said Sgt. William Jack Young, 22, of Rochester Mills, Pa.

Pvt. Luther G. Wood, 27, of Winona, W. Va., said: "I just told them I couldn't answer their questions even though they said we'd be dealt with as spies."

Both soldiers were returned to the West German border near here Tuesday night by Russian authorities after U. S. authorities protested their arrest. They had been seized Monday while on a routine patrol of the border.

At a news conference here, the two soldiers said they were "well inside" of the West German border when five armed Russian soldiers arrested them.

They said they were taken to "some kind of a military installation."

Wood said: "They asked me if I knew anything about atom bombs or atomic weapons and about a new type of U. S. Army jeep. I told them I couldn't answer their questions."

The two soldiers said they were questioned until midnight, then were taken to a room where they spent the night in small, hospital-type beds with sheets and blankets.

New Orleans Mayor Wins His Third Term

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Democratic Mayor de Lesseps Morrison won his third term Tuesday with a sweeping victory over the first organized Republican opposition since 1930.

Less than one-third of the registered voters turned out after the one-sided campaign in which the GOP's seven-man ticket was active and the Democratic candidates virtually silent.

Complete but unofficial returns from the city's 312 precincts gave Morrison 50,408 votes to 11,793 for Fred Ogden, a New Orleans businessman.

Board Reconsiders Action On Accepting Bid For New School

The Escanaba Board of Education met this afternoon to reexamine the bids submitted last night for the construction of the new elementary school to be located in the southwest section of the city.

The board examined the bids last night and voted to award the contract to the Baker Construction Company of Green Bay but Erling Arntzen, Escanaba contractor, who was the second low bidder contended today that the bids were confused because of a misunderstanding among the bidders.

The board met at one o'clock this afternoon and a legal study of the aspects involved was considered. The board was still in session at 3 o'clock.

The bid of the Baker Construction Company of Green Bay was $235,983.

The board indicated that it will include in the general contract a provision for construction of a kindergarten and the use of tempered glass in the multi-purpose room. Baker's alternative bids for these additional jobs were $11,908 for the kindergarten and $1,351 for the tempered glass.

Other low bids for sub-contracts accepted by the board last night were Gene's Electric Service, Menominee, $17,900 for the general electrical contract, plus $742 for electrical work in the kindergarten; and Hedstrom and Callies, Menominee, $73,200 for plumbing and heating, plus $395 for plumbing and $965 for heating and ventiliation in the kindergarten.

Estimated Cost $416,136

The total estimated cost of the project, on the basis of bids studied last night, is $416,136. The board has available for the school project a total of $411,000 and does not anticipate any difficulty providing the small additional sum that may be needed. The estimated includes $10,500 for any contingencies that may develop.

Eight bids were received for the general contract, four for the plumbing work and six for the electrical work.

In the bids for the general contract, bidders were asked to submit a base proposal plus eight additive alternates classified as A-1 through A-8.

Electrical Bids

In the bids for the electrical work, bidders were advised to submit a base bid plus three additive alternates, classified as E-1 through E-3. E-1 provided for additional electrical work if the kindergarten were added, E-2 for additional electrical work if two extra classrooms were added and E-3 for additional electrical work if food handling equipment were added to the general contract.

Electrical bids follow:

Herro Electric Co. Escanaba: Base proposal E, $28,499; E-1, $793; E-2, $1,350. No bid on E-3.

Nantell Electric Co., Escanaba: Base proposal E, $23,990; E-1, $478; E-2, $757; E-3, $85.

V and M Electric Co., Menominee: Base proposal E, $21,888; E-1, $505; E-2, $878; E-3, $75.

Gene's Electric Service, Menominee: Base proposal E, $17,900; E-1, $742; E-2, $999; E-3, cost plus.

Michigan Hatfield Electric Corp., St. Ignace: Base proposal E, $21,490; E-1, $605; E-2, $765; E-3, $43.

Mullen Electric Co., Appleton: Base proposal E, $21,890; E-1, $636; E-2, $1,290; E-3, $140.

The board discussed the bids on the general contract for considerable length before voting to accept the proposal of Baker Construction Co., Green Bay.

Harold Algeo and Howard Kerns, representatives of the architectural firm of Perkins and Will, attended the meeting.

4% Supervisory Fee

Mr. Algeo pointed out that the board already has a provision in its contract with Perkins and Will for the architects to supervise the subcontractors at a fee of 4% in the event the general contractors requested a higher fee. He explained that the bids by contractors for this supervisory work were additive bids and not a part of the base proposals.

The motion to award the contract to the Baker Construction Co., was offered by Charles Folio and supported by Mrs. N. L. Lindquist. C. Gust Peterson, who advocated that the contract be awarded to Erling Arntzen, voted against the motion but it prevailed, 6-1.

Later Mr. Algeo discussed the supervisory fee with representatives of the Baker company and explained the architect's contract with the school district. Baker reported that he would accept the 4% fee for supervising the subcontractors. He explained that in bidding 15% he was under the impression that he would be required to hire registered engineers for this supervision.

The architectural firm also provides supervision on the job, Algeo said.

The board then voted to include in the contract with Baker a provision that the general contractor would supervise the sub-contractors at a fee of 4%.

The plans and specifications for the school provide that local labor shall be used when this can be done without increasing the cost or affecting the quality of the work.

Report Local Retail Sales At $22 Million

Escanaba now has a population of 15,600 people who live in 4,760 households within the city, according to estimates just released. This figure is two percent above last year's total.

These residents earn an annual spendable income of $22,516,000 which is an average of $4,730 per household. Spendable income is defined as net income after taxes.

A detailed breakdown of spendable income and consumer units shows that of Escanaba's 5,170 consumer units, 1,400 have incomes of $1,999 and below; 2,220 have incomes of from $2,000 to $3,999; 1,170 have incomes of from $4,000 to $5,999 and 380 have incomes of over $6,000.

A consumer unit is defined as a family or individual who is not residing with related individuals or families.

These estimates are based on advance data to be published in Consumer Markets, annual market data sourcebook published by Standard Rate & Data Service, and used by national advertisers, advertising agencies and manufacturers in estimating market size, market potentials and sales experience.

Other estimates in the publication show that retail sales for Escanaba merchants total $22,262,000 annually, which is an average of $4,677 per household—27 percent above the national average of retail sales per household.

Consumer Markets contains estimates for all U. S. cities over 10,000 and cities with daily newspapers or radio stations. Estimates are published for cities, counties, metropolitan areas, states and regions, and include nearly every known factor used in evaluating markets.

Consumer Markets will be published May first, and estimates disclosed today were released to the Escanaba Daily Press in advance of that publication date.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mattie Thielicke of Escanaba; two sons, Jack of Chicago and Frank Jr. of Milwaukee; a sister, Mrs. Charles E. Olson, Escanaba; a brother, F. M. Fernstrom, Escanaba, and two granddaughters.

Escanaba people attending the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Olson and Mrs. Charles Thielicke.

Fire Towers In Area Manned

Forest fire fighters of the Michigan Department of Conservation and the U. S. Forest Service are preparing to meet the threat of springtime fires, which break out as soon as the snow leaves the ground and last year's dead vegetation dries out.

Towers in the Escanaba district of the Conservation Department were manned for the first time yesterday. There are 13 towers in the district comprising Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger county.

Rain today reduced the possibility of fires, but a few hours of sun and wind will make plains and open areas dry enough to burn through grass and brushlands.

Persons who are planning on land clearing or other burning are required to obtain permits from the Conservation Department as soon as the snow leaves the ground. Permits are not issued during periods of fire hazard.

Last year through the cooperation of the public and because of favorable weather conditions the losses from forest fires were the lowest in many years.

Scientists have reported that at least 50 to 60 species of wildlife are in danger of extinction in North America.

Salvation Army Appeal Answered

An appeal made by the Salvation Army in the Escanaba Daily Press Monday was answered within 24 hours after appearing in a brief item.

Every article in the appeal was obtained for the needy elderly couple. They received a bed spring, mattress, chest of drawers, kitchen table, four kitchen chairs, cook stove and a set of dishes.

Peron Gains Prestige From Caracas Meeting

By DREW PEARSON

The most significant by-product of the Caracas Pan-American conference is the marked upswing in Argentine dictator Juan Peron's prestige and influence throughout Latin America.

Prior to Caracas, the glib gaucho wasn't setting the world on fire with his campaign to line up South American countries in an "economic bloc" against the USA up to March 1, only Paraguay, Ecuador, and Colombia (with important reservations) had joined the movement, which had started out as a Buenos Aires-Santiago axis—though never ratified by the Chileans.

But today, more as a result of what the United States failed to do at Caracas than because of any notable Argentine achievements, Venezuela and Peru are getting ready to join the economic bloc, while Colombia has indicated an intention to participate more actively.

Reason for this is quite simple. Most Latins have decided some sort of economic union, even if it means opening the doors to Peronist propaganda, represents their only chance to meet the Yanquis on an even footing and force the trade concessions which Washington seems unwilling to consider.

Though Secretary Dulles agreed at Caracas to an all-American economic conference to be held in Rio "some time this year," few Latin delegates put much stock in the promise. A similar resolution was passed at Bogota six years ago, but never carried out—and, even if convened, such a gathering would do little beyond dealing cautiously with broad generalities.

Colombia and Argentina

A graphic example of the changed atmosphere since Caracas is the announcement by Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, Colombia's president, that he will visit Buenos Aires this summer after all. Shortly before the Pan-American conference, Rojas' 24-year-old daughter, Maria Eugenia, returned from a three-week official visit to Argentina, loud in her praise of everything Peronist and outspokenly eager to have her father make the trip as the glib gaucho's guest.

However, though an invitation had already been tendered Colombia's chief executive, an aide said in late February that he probably could not find time to go. But today the junket is definitely scheduled for August or September.

President Velasco Ibarra of Ecuador is also due to call on Peron some time this year, and similar bids are out to Presidents Odria of Peru, Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, and Pas Estenssoro of Bolivia. Present indications are that all will be accepted and that the Argentine-led South American bloc may include all that continent's republics, except Brazil and Uruguay, before 1955.

Actually, Argentine foreign minister Jeronimo Remorino and his fellow delegates played it very smart at Caracas by avoiding most of the aggressive tactics which rub their neighbors the wrong way. With a good many Latin feelings ruffled by Dulles' high-pressure strategy on the anti-Communist issue, Peron's delegates seemed like model statesmen.

Moreover, when the United States refused to discuss economic problems, the Argentine theme song to the effect that only a united front can deal successfully with Washington began to sound most appealing.

If anything more was needed to magnify Peron's prestige in Latin eyes, it was provided by the exceptional difference with which his men were treated by all the delegates from the United States—a country that the glib gaucho's controlled press has been treating with arrogant contempt for the last seven years. Naturally, the neighbors were impressed.

Importance Of Your Vote Is Shown In City Election Tie

HOW important is your vote?

In Monday's municipal election in Escanaba two candidates, William E. Anderson and Edward H. Cox, each polled 1471 votes to tie for the second City Council vacancy that was to be filled in the biennial election. Harlan Yelland topped the voting with 1795 votes to be assured of one of the Council seats.

The Anderson-Cox tie was the first in the city's history but six years ago a Council seat was decided by a single vote. A recount was held on that occasion without changing the result.

It is unlikely that a recount will develop in this election although, of course, that is the privilege of the candidates involved.

No matter how the final outcome results, the importance of every person's vote is proved by this development. Your vote counts—but only if you vote it. Those who stayed away from the polls Monday may feel a sense of personal guilt. We hope that it convinces them of the importance of going to the polls in future elections.

Long Live The Pope

IT is good news that Pope Pius XII is now fully recovered from his recent dangerous illness. Though he is 78, the world must hope that he still has a number of years of useful life as spiritual leader in a troubled world.

Pius XII has long spoken with ringing authority for peace, for sanity, for an avoidance of extremes in an age when peoples everywhere seem bent upon polarizing their attitudes in rigid postures that permit of no yielding.

The Pope's voice is the counsel of moderation, of caution, of reasonableness. We badly need its calming effect amid the din and clamor of harsher voices.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Today's vocabulary test is based upon ten words, several of them rather out of the ordinary. All of them will prove valuable additions to your vocabulary. For each numbered word you will find a word or phrase of almost the same meaning among the four words and phrases following it. Thus, the word numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word lettered c. When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom.

Here is how we score the quiz: ten correct, excellent; eight to nine, superior; six to seven, good; five or less, poor.

1.—Cupola: (a) rack for dishes, (b) shingles, (c) small dome, (d) render harmless.

2.—Elegy: (a) melancholy poem, (b) superiority, (c) prayer, (d) vagueness.

3.—Garrison: (a) a talkative person, (b) besiege, (c) military establishment, (d) warfare.

4.—Larceny: (a) criminal, (b) theft, (c) assault, (d) slyness.

5.—Magnate: (a) big corporation, (b) center of force (c) dominant person, (d) judicial officer.

6.—Vernal: (a) corruptly mercenary, (b) pardonable, (c) of spring, (d) veiled.

7.—Amnesia: (a) pardon, (b) idiocy, (c) loss of memory, (d) freedom.

8.—Ampere: (a) measure of light, (b) generator, (c) measure of electric current, (d) name for the symbal "&".

9.—Audition: (a) temerity, (b) music hall, (c) panel of judges, (d) a hearing.

10.—Calibrate: (a) exercise, (b) debate inwardly (c) determine graduations for measurement, (d) sight or aim as a gun.

ANSWERS: 1c, 2a, 3c, 4b, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 9d and 10c.

How large is your vocabulary? How many thousands of words can you use with confidence? For the answers to these questions, just send a self-addressed stamped envelope to William Morris in care of this paper, for a free copy of his new self-scoring vocabulary test. It will show you how many words you now know and how to increase your word power almost overnight.

Tax Boost Rejection Was Not Surprising

REJECTION by the voters of Delta County of the proposal for a two-mill tax increase was not a surprising result of Monday's election. The proposal's unpopularity was evident long before the voting began and even its most ardent supporters conceded privately that the proposal would not prevail at the polls.

Lumping into a single proposal a tax increase to be divided three ways guaranteed the failure of the proposal. There were many people who believed in the need for more funds for the county road commission, many who recognized the need for more money for the county government and many others who favored more money for the schools. Unfortunately there simply were not sufficient number of people who favored a blanket increase for all three.

The proposal took an unmerciful beating at the polls, 1377 for to 4749 against. It failed to earn a majority in any of the 30 precincts of the county and in some precincts the opposition carried by margins as great as 23 to 1.

The timing on this proposal likewise was bad. Just a year ago a general tax increase went into effect throughout the county and on top of that an increase in school taxes was voted in Escanaba to construct the new elementary school. The taxpayers haven't quite caught their breath yet.

SUBVERSIVES AT WASHINGTON
(Green Bay Press-Gazette)

After seven months of investigation, beginning May 28, 1953, and through December 31, 1953, the Eisenhower administration gave in detail some facts of great interest to the country.

Altogether 2,429 "security risks" were fired or resigned. Of these the breakdown was the following:

(1) 422 were parted from the service because information indicated subversive activities or associations.

(2) 198 were parted from the service because of sexual perversion.

(3) 611 were parted from the service because of former criminal convictions.

(4) 1424 were ousted because they indicated untrustworthiness, drunkenness, mental instability, or other possible exposure to blackmail.

It is rather noticeable, and we think also quite understandable, that the State Department still showed up a lot of queer fellows, 117 in number, of which 49 involved perversion charges.

It is likewise to be remembered that all 2429 security risks were ousted under a law passed with an overwhelming majority by Congress in August, 1950, indicating that the Democrats were not at all bad in passing decent laws but slothful in applying them.

Arrested Tuberculosis Safe Unless Lesion Has Broken Down

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Sometimes, what sounds like a complicated question may not be really difficult at all, assuming that the medical facts are accurately available.

Q—If a young wife had tuberculosis, and after spending a year in a sanatorium was allowed to return home as an arrested case, would there be tubercle germs present which could be transmitted by her husband kissing her and then kissing his cousin? M. M.

A—Unless the tuberculosis lesion had broken down, and she was eliminating the germs of tuberculosis in her sputum, she would not transmit the infection to anyone else. Any person who has had tuberculosis should be checked at fairly frequent intervals, however, to make certain that the disease remains in an arrested and non-contagious stage.

• • •

Q—When syphilis has been present for six or eight years, is it possible to cure it? T. W.

A—Doctors are usually reluctant to use the word, "cure" in this kind of situation. In most instances, however, syphilis, even of this duration, can be treated so successfully that it will not produce further symptoms or complications.

• • •

Q—Can a woman have sex relations after having uterus, tubes, and ovaries removed? Is this called a complete hysterectomy? What is a panhysterectomy? Reader.

A—This operation should not interfere with normal sex relations. The operation decsirbed may be called either a pan-hysterectomy or a complete hysterectomy.

• • •

Q—About a year and a half ago I had calcium around the bone in my shoulder. This was treated with X-ray, but I just missed having to have an operation. It seems worse to me when I raise my arm. Could this develop into cancer of the bone? Mrs. B.

A—This sounds like a bad case of bursitis with calcium deposits. If this is the correct diagnosis there is no reason to believe that it would lead to cancer of the bone.

• • •

Q—Will you please explain what is meant by "acute gangrenous gallbladder"? I lost a dear friend, 81 years old, from this condition. Mrs. V.

A—This presumably refers to an acute inflammation of the gallbladder, associated with death of the tissue itself. The only chance for recovery would have been an immediate operation, which, of course, carries considerable risk at such an age.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin and Senator Jenner of Indiana both are good friends and fellow Red-hunters. But the other day they got just a little miffed at each other over the question of this writer.

When this column carried an advance story on how Jenner's committee was going to use ex-ambassador Spruille Braden as a star witness against Alger Hiss and the State Department, McCarthy blew up.

He claimed that Jenner's committee had been infiltrated. "Pearson," he claimed, "had planted a spy" inside the committee.

Senator Jenner also got worried, began to talk about the possibility of a "secret Harold Ickes" being on his committee staff. The liberal Republican he suspected at first was Charles Grimes, new counsel for the Internal Security Committee and a former Dewey crime-buster.

This writer had praised Grimes as fair-minded, so Jenner immediately suspected that he was the "Pearson spy," and even enlisted the services of the FBI to track down the leak.

I can assure you, however, Senator, that Mr. Grimes was not the source of my advance story on your operations. And just to prove that he wasn't, here is further secret information about another phase of your activity, in the Rules Committee, which has nothing to do with Mr. Grimes and which I am sure he knows nothing about—until he reads this. Here is the next move you are contemplating:

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

The secret minutes of Jenner's Rules Committee show that he is planning to repeat his political strategy of 1948 and investigate Democratic primaries this year, then publicize Democratic "election scandals" on the eve of the general election.

In the past, it has been the committee's practice to keep out of party primaries, investigate only final elections. Only exception to this came during the GOP 80h Congress, when Jenner headed the Senate Elections Subcommittee, at which time he rushed around investigating Democratic primaries, trying to dig up dirt against Democratic candidates before the general election. Simultaneously he ignored Republican primaries, including a smelly GOP scandal in Rhode Island.

However, behind the closed doors of the Senate Rules Committee Jenner announced that he would ask the Senate for $75,000 to investigate primaries again.

The secret minutes quote Jenner's announcement as follows: "Thirty-five senators will be up for reelection this year. Thirty-four will be running in primaries during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September. Delaware alone will hold a convention.

"Many of these contests are expected to be close and result in hard campaigning," the minutes continue, quoting Jenner. "The experience of the committee in the past has been that primary elections demand equal attention from the privileges and election subcommittee.

"For this reason, a compact staff should be established at the end of March to undertake spot investigations arising out of complaints which may be made in the forthcoming primaries, and for which there is adequate precedent on the committee records," Jenner adds, neglecting to mention that the only precedents were set by himself in 1948. "If these primaries result in more contests than could be expected, the Senate can raise the ante sometime in July or August before it adjourns."

Democratic senators agreed this might be a good idea-provided Republican as well as Democratic primaries are investigated.

BROWNELL'S WIRE-TAPS

Attorney General Brownell has been literally begging for someone to introduce his wiretap bill on the Senate side of Congress. So far, only Senator McCarthy has offered to sponsor the bill, and Brownell just doesn't like the idea of having McCarthy's name on it.

The attorney general tried to persuade McCarthy's colleague, senior Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, to introduce the bill, but Wiley insisted that the question of whose phones were to be tapped should be left up to the courts, not the attorney general. So he said no. Meanwhile Brownell's wire-tap proposal is lying in Vice President Nixon's office, waiting for some senator—other than McCarthy—to pick it up.

Note—The Brownell proposal would make wire-tap evidence taken in the courts retroactively; in other words wire-tap evidence taken illegally several years ago would now become admissible. McCarthy's Democratic friend, Senator McCarran of Nevada, is vigorously opposed to the wire-tap bill. He suspects his own phones have been tapped.

Questions and Answers

Q—I've heard that the U. S. Treasury has a "conscience" fund. What is that?

A—A "conscience" fund is maintained by the Treasury to accept monies from persons who inadvertently or intentionally defrauded the government of sums due it, and make restitution. If they send cash to the Treasury, it goes into the general fund. Officials, keeping tabs on the amount for two recent years, report the "conscience" fund totalled $39,501 in fiscal 1952, $64,198 for fiscal 1953.

Universal Application Of New Facts Could Cut Cancer Losses

By CHARLES S. CAMERON, MD
Medical Director, American Cancer Society

NEW YORK (NEA) — Final conquest of cancer may not be achieved until research has solved most, if not all the mysteries of growth.

In the meantime, however, more lives are being saved every year and cancer control becomes more of a reality every day.

Modern medical science — more extensive yet safer use of surgery; more penetrating and selective beams of X-rays and other forms of radiant energy; improved methods of detection and diagnosis — has vastly boosted the chances of surviving cancer's assault today.

Now, universal application of newly developed knowledge and methods would result in cures for at least half of all who develop cancer—and eliminate most deaths from some of the commonest forms.

* * *

This is the battle plan for today: Doing what can be done now; making sure the know-how we possess will be consistently applied by physicians and the public.

Today the physician's role is a vital one that increases in proportion to the growth of public health consciousness. When we have persuaded a person to go to a doctor for a regular health checkup, the person's responsibility ends, and the doctor's begins—and the doctor's responsibility includes detecting and dealing with suspicious signs of cancer.

Impressively high cure rates are possible today only if the disease is localized—in other words, the earlier a cancer is discovered the better.

Whether it is localized at the time of treatment depends upon two things: "The inherent malignancy of the tumor; and the elapsed time of its activity.

* * *

Unfortunately at the present time we cannot influence the degree of malignancy—the potential for growth—but we can influence the interval before treatment. Here is a most hopeful ray of light in a cloud that has spread fear since the beginning of civilization.

New knowledge of cancer and new techniques for managing it have made possible the detection of most cancers when they are "early" and most curable. With many cancers, this would not have been possible 20 or even 10 years ago.

Great emphasis is now placed upon the goal: "Make every doctor's office a cancer detection center." The general practitioner is being told: "Early diagnosis is the responsibility of every doctor in his office." But the busy "family doctor" needs help in meeting this great responsibility.

Six months ago in an unprecedented effort to post-graduate education, the American Cancer Society launched a series of weekly "live" closed circuit color TV telecasts to doctors in seven large cities from the east coast to the Midwest.

The programs have only one purpose: To make available to doctors the latest techniques for detecting and treating cancer.

The thousands of doctors have observed at close range new techniques of diagnosis and treatment —as well as the things they should be suspicious of in apparently well patients. They have seen what cancer looks like when it is really early; when it is most curable. They have observed "live" demonstrations of cancer detection examinations that can be performed by a family doctor and which might result in saving thousands of lives.

In addition, films of these telecasts are now being made available to the medical profession throughout the country.

But this is only one phase of the vast attack that has been mounted for physicians against cancer.

* * *

More than 190,000 doctors have been supplied with ACS comprehensive brochures on detection and diagnosis of the most frequent forms of cancer.

Films of actual procedures followed in detecting the presence of cancer, and diagnosis has been made available to medical societies, hospitals and universities.

In the past few years refresher courses for doctors have been conducted on a regional basis throughout the country.

The American Cancer Society has trained hundreds of technicians whose laboratory analyses support the "family doctor" in diagnosis. These technicians, returning to their communities, in turn train others.

* * *

These are only highlights on the widening frontier against cancer. There are many other signs of progress. Hospitals report more "early" cancer than ever before. Thousands of doctors are making cancer detection examinations.

Recently a large country-wide insurance company reported: Among women policy holders the cancer death rate has dropped 12.6 per cent in 10 years.

For the same period Massachusetts clinics reported a 100 per cent increase in the survival rate for breast cancer; a 50 per cent increase in the survival rate for cancer of the female generative organs.

Simply said: We are gaining ground. But it is not fast enough. Only total participation of everyone will conquer man's cruelest enemy.

THE DOCTOR AND CANCER CONTROL: Here a physician examines a patient's throat for cancer. Improved methods of detection and diagnosis have greatly boosted chances of survival.

The Public And Cancer Control

MODERN medical science has made it a fact that early cancer is among the most curable of major causes of death. But getting to a doctor is the responsibility of the individual—a life and death proposition that can't be shoved off on some one else.

It calls for periodic checkups by physicians, twice a year, for women over 35 and men over 45, the beginning of the danger age for cancer.

These signs, called cancer's danger signals, are extremely important and only a physician can tell whether they mean cancer: (1) Any sore that does not heal; (2) a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; (3) unusual bleeding or discharge; (4) any change in a wart or mole; (5) persistant indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; (6) persistent hoarseness or cough; (7) any change in normal bowel habits.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

OLD ORDER PASSES — People who would like to go back to the "good old days" would not care for it if they were suddenly slipped into a time-machine and capsuled back to 1890.

For times have changed—for the better—on the American scene these past 50 to 60 years.

P. G. "Gilly" Fugere, long-time member of the Iron Mountain Rotary Club, made a little point of this in a recent talk to the Escanaba Rotary Club.

"When I was a boy," he said, "we used to call an Italian a 'dago', the Swede was a 'herring choker', and the Frenchman was a 'frog eater'. Today you don't hear that any more."

The point Fugere made was that so far as our social relations are concerned, both in this country and on the international scene, we have progressed toward better understanding and good will. This is of benefit to us as individuals, to America and to the world.

• • •

NICKEL PLATED ERA—Racial intolerance often flared into violence in the "good old days" and there was often a deep distrust of non-English speaking peoples.

Back in the 1890's it was a common practice for gentlemen to carry pistols on their person for their protection. These were placed in pockets or slung in shoulder holsters.

Ladies were provided with small revolvers and pistols, usually nickel plated, sometimes with fancy ivory handles. One gun was called a "muff pistol" and the lady just aimed her muff at the villain and squeezed the trigger.

Many of these pistols were cheaply made. They might be named "Defender" and "Sure Shot" but they came under the general classification of suicide weapons because so many of them exploded at the wrong end.

• • •

BOYS WILL BE BOYS—For sheer violence there was little to recommend the old days in the United States—and the James boys and Wild Bill Hickok and other characters of both the Old East and West would make good fodder for newspaper headlines in any era.

Lynching was a sordid commentary on the "good old days" in the Deep South, where white folks believed the only good Negro was a dead Negro. Up in the Northwest the same attitude was displayed toward Sitting Bull and his Indian companions.

Juvenile delinquency in those days may have run heavily toward Bowery Boys and their metropolitan gangs, but there was no doubt that life in the country and in small towns was not without its disturbances of the peace.

As for the imbibing of strong liquor, the contemporaries viewed conditions with anything but approval. Carrie Nation and her helpers took their stand against demon rum with hatchets flashing; the Women's Christian Temperance Union was born; and politicians were identified with either the brewery crowd or the reformers.

• • •

CLEAN POLITICS—In those days there was little state control of the liquor trade, the number of places allowed to sell drinks was unlimited, and quite a few of the politicians at the local and state and national levels were bought and sold by the "liquor interests."

Then, as now, there were scandals in government and in high society.

And at the local level in government there were charges and counter-charges of graft and corruption that are seldom heard today. In this connection is an item in an old Escanaba newspaper dated April 4, 1892, advocating the election of Greenhoot for mayor:

"No man will vote against him except those who prefer the old 'gang' rule to any measure of reform, and upon them words would be wasted."

One candidate in the 1892 spring election in Escanaba was busy explaining the circumstances surrounding the two-year prison sentence he served for defalcations while employed by the U. S. Post Office Department in Wisconsin. "Every vote cast for me will be a vote of confidence," he says in connection with his candidacy for Escanaba justice of the peace.

Escanaba and Michigan and the nation may have troubles today—but there were plenty of bad spots in the record of the "good old days" as well.

Start Of Smelt Run Is Awaited

The annual spring spawning run of smelt from northern Green Bay waters up streams and rivers of Delta County is expected to start soon, and fishermen will probably be out scouting their favorite dipping locations this coming weekend.

The Conservation Department so far has not received any reports of smelt runs occurring anywhere in the area, but conditions are becoming more favorable as warmer weather and rain clears ice from the mouths of the rivers.

Hundreds of tons of smelt are dipped from Delta County rivers and streams each spring. The run this year is expected to equal the bumper crop harvested by dipnetters a year ago.

Favorite smelt streams in this area include the Ford River, Escanaba River, Tacoosh, Bark River, Days River and Valentine Creek. In past years the first heavy runs of smelt were reported at Valentine Creek on the Garden Peninsula and Bark River on the bay shore south of Escanaba.

April Showers Hit Area Today; Snow Likely Tomorrow

April showers, accompanied by a thunderstorm and thick fog visited Wisconsin and Michigan during the night and this morning with saturating rains falling throughout the entire area.

In Escanaba, 5.5 of an inch had fallen up to 10 a. m. with the prospect of continued rainfall throughout the day and tonight.

The temperature locally rose to 43 from a low of 36 early this morning. According to S. E. Decker, local weather observer, it will become cold during the night and the precipitation will change to snow. A thermometer reading here of 27 or 28 is forecast for tomorrow morning.

This change to colder is indicated from conditions at Duluth where yesterday's high of 63 fell to below freezing this morning and a freezing drizzle is now reported. Duluth's weather is due to hit this area late tonight.

The heaviest fall of rain in the area is reported from Clintonville, Wis. where 1.9 inches of rain fell last night.

Yesterday's high in Escanaba was 55. It fell to 36 at 3 this morning.

Hearing In Gun Case At Kingsford Set For April 10

IRON MOUNTAIN — Elwood Cunningham, 38, 317 Case, Kingsford, pleaded not guilty and demanded a preliminary hearing when arraigned at 4 Tuesday afternoon before Justice Claude James on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon with intent to use unlawfully against another person.

Bond against Cunningham was set at $2,000. Unable to post the sum, Cunningham was returned to the county jail, to remain in custody until his preliminary hearing, set for 10 a. m. Saturday, April 10, before Justice James.

Cunningham is alleged to have shot and missed his divorced wife in an attack at 9 Sunday night at the home of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Inga Kopp, 1581 Riverview Drive, Kingsford.

Sheriff Peter Carlevato and Henry King, chief of the Kingsford police department, who arrested Cunningham at 7:30 yesterday morning at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wahlstrom, 317 Case, Kingsford, reported that the slug from the single-barrel 20-gauge shotgun struck a piano in the living room of Mrs. Kopp's home.

James Spies Named Menominee Mayor In City Election

MENOMINEE — James Spies was elected mayor of Menominee in Monday's election, defeating Otto Eickmeyer, a former mayor, in balloting that brought several changes in the membership of the City Council.

He will be the third generation Spies to hold the office. His grandfather, Augustus Spies, served many years ago and his father, Charles A. Spies, also held the post.

Spies received 1,926 votes, 157 more than Eickmeyer. Spies carried the first four wards and the first precinct of the seventh ward.

Four incumbents were unseated in the aldermanic contest and three retained their posts.

Incumbents defeated were third ward, Edward Rynish by Arthur Pada; fourth ward, Herbert Beyersdorf by Arthur Flood; fifth ward, Leon Serwatka by Wilfred Bertrand; seventh ward, Stephenson Smith by Edward Smith.

Re-elected were first ward, Raymond Noppenberg, unopposed; second ward, Claude LaCourt who defeated Joseph Kasmarek, and sixth ward, Edward Suchorski Sr., who defeated Henry Rouer.

It is believed that the first Christmas trees were used in America about 1840.

ARTHUR LARSON, dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School has been nominated as undersecretary of labor. A native of Sioux Falls, S. D., he will succeed Lloyd Mashburn who resigned.

Dairy Expert To Speak Here

What is going on today in the dairy industry will be discussed by F. M. Skiver, chief of the bureau of dairying of the Michigan Department of Agriculture at a meeting in the courthouse at Escanaba at 7:30 p. m., Monday, April 12.

Mr. Skiver's talk will be given at the annual meeting of dairy manufacturers of the Escanaba district. Milk, cheese, ice cream and evaporating plant operators are expected from Escanaba, Marquette, Iron Mountain and Menominee.

Topics that will be covered include government cheese buying, some new requirements of the Michigan law and the Wisconsin grade label for butter, as well as some of the new proposals for marketing ice cream and milk products.

Mr. Skiver will review bills offered in the 1954 legislature affecting vitamin fortified milk, milk dispensers and the bonding of all dairy plants for payment to producers.

C. J. Little, dairy extension specialist of Chatham, and Joe Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent, arranged the meeting. Mr. Little will also discuss the state dairy marketing and promotional program.

The following night, April 13, a dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m., at the Ironwood Elks Club. Proccessors from Iron and Gogebic counties will attend with arrangements under the direction of Floyd W. Hicks, county agricultural agent.

On April 14, a like meeting for processors from Houghton, Keweenaw, Ontonagon and Baraga counties will be held for a dinner meeting at the Venice Cafe at 7 p. m. This meeting will be under the direction of Frank Madaski, county agricultural agent.

On April 15, processors from Chippewa and Mackinac counties will meet at the 4-H Club building at Kinross at 8 p. m., for a meeting under the direction of Lyle Able, Chippewa county agricultural agent.

Spring Clean-Up Can Halt Fires

Escanaba firemen today through Fire Captains Nels Bergeon and Palmer Derouin urged residents of the city to "clean up your property today so it will not be destroyed by fire tomorrow."

The warning was voiced in conjunction with a plea for public cooperation in eliminating fire hazards.

The firemen will start the annual spring fire inspection of Escanaba business places next Monday, April 12. Each year the firemen visit the business places to point out hazards and to request the proprietors to correct the condition.

Owners and occupants of residential property must take the responsibility for their own inspection, however, and they are urged by the firemen to eliminate the hazards by participating in the spring clean-up.

Rubbish stored in the home is a major cause of fire, it was pointed out. Articles stored in attics, basements and in closets collect dirt and dust. Such materials are ready to burst into flames at the touch of a spark and may spontaneously ignite.

In clearing away rubbish it is all right to burn it in the yard—but the burning must be done carefully. The clean-up fire should not be lit on a dry or windy day. The best place to burn trash is in a good stout incinerator.

Best insurance against trash fires is daily rather than annual clean-up. The clean house contains fewer hazards that can result in disastrous fires.

Workers At Perfex Plant, Kingsford, Decline To Strike

KINGSFORD—Although union officials could not be reached Tuesday for confirmation, reports indicated that hourly employes of the Perfex Corporation's Kingsford plant, in a special meeting Sunday night, voted 81-80 against a proposal to strike over grievance procedure. Four union members present, the report adds, declined to vote.

It was unofficially reported that the strike vote was taken as the result of grievances over job classifications.

Two AFL agents from Rockford, Ill., were here for the special meeting Sunday night. Both left Monday, but one of them returned to Iron Mountain at noon Tuesday. He, likewise, could not be reached.

On Sept. 16, 1953, the International Association of Machinists voted 482-94 to accept a three-year contract with the Perfex Corporation.

School Bands Score Big Hit

Five Escanaba city school bands played to a near capacity audience last evening in a Concert of Band Music at the William Oliver Auditorium.

Beginning the concert was the grade school band presenting several marches and waltzes. These young band members surprised the audience with their ability on the instruments.

"Two Pals," featuring an alto saxophone duet, was one of the numbers given by the Junior High School "C" band that the audience enjoyed. It featured Glinda Lampert and Patsy Caron. They also played several marches, a waltz and an Indian number.

A popular tune, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," proved to be a favorite with many of the audience when the Junior High "B" band played their selections. Besides two marches, they presented an overture.

The Junior High "A" band confidently presented the "Atlantis," the Lost Continent Suite, by Safranek. They effectively handled the changing tempos, tones and other variations. They also presented another different number, "Green Cathedral," featuring Jane Heiden at the piano.

Highlights of "Kiss Me Kate" were presented by the Senior High band members, who were attired in uniforms, adding a sense of uniformity. They also played a samba, "Copa Cabana," several marches and a concert overture.

Outstanding number of the evening was the conclusion of the program. The bands combined to form a mass band of 277 students, and together they played "God Bless America" by Berlin.

Directors of the concert were Robert S. Meyer and John Edick.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market faced selling pressure again today but was able to withstand the worst. It staged a broad but moderate recovery that brought prices well up from their lows.

The decline extended to around a point while gains were modest fractions. Business was at a rate below Tuesday's 2,120,000 shares.

Westinghouse Electric was ahead and three companies — American Machine & Foundry, Bendix Aviation, and Babcock & Wilcox - were higher after the Atomic Energy Commission granted them right to study application of atomic energy.

U. S. government bonds were steady.

World Can't Afford To Let Reds Steal More, Says President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the free world simply can't afford greater losses to the Communists in Asia.

Loss of Indochina and the rest of Southeast Asia would have incalculable consequences, he told a news conference.

Eisenhower said this country is conducting talks with its allies looking toward United Action to keep Indochina free but he said no detailed course of action has been set at this time.

He denied, in effect, widespread reports that the United States has asked six allies to join in a common warning against further aggression by Communist China in any part of Southeast Asia.

It wouldn't be right, Eisenhower said, for this country to propose an answer before there has been a joint study of the problem.

But the question of what to do in Indochina is of the utmost importance to the whole free world, the President said, and is getting more attention than almost any other thing.

Eisenhower said he doubts if there is much chance of reaching a negotiated settlement of the Indochinese question at the Geneva conference to be held April 26.

He declared 450 million Asiatics already have been lost to communism and said the free world simply can't afford greater losses, especially when they threaten to knock down other countries like falling dominoes.

Canvas Vote Here Thursday

The city board of canvassers, comprising the city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer, will meet at 9 a. m. Thursday in City Hall to canvass the votes cast in Monday's municipal election.

About one hour will be required to complete the work, and it will then be known whether there is a tie vote between council candidates Edward H. Cox and William E. Anderson.

Unofficial figures show they were tied with 1,471 votes each. It was the first time a tie vote was known to have occurred in the city's history.

Should official figures reveal a tie exists, under election law procedures the candidates will decide the winner by drawing lots. Two slips of paper, one marked "elected" and the other "not elected" will be placed in a box and each candidate will draw one.

The losing candidate would then have six days to petition for a recount, if he desired.

The city board of canvassers comprises City Attorney Denis McGinn, City Treasurer Belle Harvey and City Clerk George Harvey.

Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Meet At Ford River

The Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association met last night at the Ford River Town Hall. Seventy people were present.

Frank Wawirka, who represented the Association at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mutation Mink Breeders Association in Milwaukee on March 1, presented a report of that meeting. Wawirka explained that the demand for mutation mink is increasing in other parts of the world, notably in South America and Europe. It has been an official policy of the Mutation Mink Breeders Association which represents the mink industry on a national level, to have a representative of local associations attend its Board of Director meetings.

Al Leonard, manager of the Special Industries Department of Purina Foods, was the guest speaker of the evening. Leonard has had 25 years of experience in the nutrition of fur-bearing animals.

Leonard emphasized the need for the correct balance of vitamins and minerals during the gestation and lactation period of the mink. A rancher can overdo in the feeding of vitamins and minerals, which can cause harmful effects or even be fatal in certain specific instances. An over dose of one element in the diet can cause a deficiency in another.

Nepal has 1,000 motor vehicles, all of which were taken apart and carried into the area on the backs of porters, although a road into the country is now being built.

Producers May Ask John L. Lewis For Soft Coal Pay Cut

any wage slash drive.

Last summer Moses said in a speech that wage-cutting never has been the right answer to the industry's mills when it over-produces the demand. He said the competitive oil and gas industries can easily match any price cut coal may put into effect.

Whether the 75-year-old Lewis is faced with a formal industry demand for lower wages or not, the reduced coal production spells some trouble for him.

For one thing, lower production means a smaller yield from the 40-cent a ton royalty paid by mine owners into the union's health and welfare fund. Lewis may be forced either to reduce the fund's benefits or to dig into its nearly 100-million-dollar reserves.

Mines Evade Royalty

For another, a number of small mines in several states have closed down and reopened after a few months either on a non-union basis or with a local employe group, in any case at lower than the UMW pay rates and without paying the 40-cent tonnage royalty.

Some of these mines having taken such steps are the Cambria Fuel Co., Somerset County, Pa., Splashdam, Va., Coal Corp., Stearns, Ky., Coal and Lumber Co., and the Marlowe Coal Co., Perry County, Ky.

UMW officials have indicated they intend to challenge in the courts the right of these firms to terminate their UMW contracts.

Lewis reportedly has called a meeting of the UMW welfare fund trustees this Friday. Royalty revenue is estimated to be running at an annual rate of about 20 million dollars a year below fund expenditures.

Stephenson Teacher Elected MEA Head, Menominee County

MENOMINEE—Robert Voelker, head of the social science department at Stephenson High School, Monday was elected president of the Menominee County Association at the annual meeting held in Blesch Auditorium at the conclusion of the Menominee County Teachers Institute. Voelker will succeed Mrs. Frances Weigand, Stephenson High School instructor, as district president.

Other officers elected were Miss Victoria Dowgovito of the Menominee High School faculty, secretary; Miss Ann Ahlskog, Daggett, director, and John Sundquist, Stephenson, district delegate to the MEA. Jay Siddall, Stephenson, was elected alternate delegate.

Military 'New Look' Tops Foreign Policy In Political Battle

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON —(CQ)— Much of the Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy has consisted of furthering past bipartisan objectives, but a Congressional Quarterly survey shows that four major "hot spots" have developed as the first Republican policy in two decades emerges.

In the President's State of The Union Message Jan. 7, the words "continue," "retain" and "maintain" were used 16 times in relation to U. S. policy. But deliberate changes or new situations have led to full-scale and sometimes partisan exchanges on:

The "new look" in defense policy

The Geneva conference, in which Communist China will participate

Maintenance of full support of the United Nations

And reorganization of the overseas information service.

The foreign policy debate, soon to turn to foreign aid and trade policy, has been most feverish on the "instant retaliation" defense policy, CQ's files show.

The New Look, defined by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as a "basic decision . . . to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our own choosing," and by Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as preparation "for the long pull; not a year-of-crisis," has been considerably retouched in a series of explanations over the past few weeks.

Representative of questions about the new defense policy circulating on Capitol Hill was Sen. John J. Sparkman's (D. Ala.) query: "Will we still retain the degree of security to which we are entitled? Another question . . . is . . . a reduction . . . being made because of the basic consideration of our national security or in consideration of the requirements of budgetary balancing?"

Representative of doubts in the minds of foreign allies was Canadian Secretary for External Affairs Lester B. Pearson's warning that means for working together must be found "in any new defense policy . . . if the great coalition which we have formed for peace is not to be replaced by an entrenched continentalism."

Mr. Pearson's remarks were made in Washington, as a prelude to discussions of the Joint Economic Board of the U. S.-Canadian Commission on Trade and Economics: He wished to emphasize "the uneasiness that enters into the minds of some Canadians" who "realize that they are quite unable to escape the consequences of what you (the Americans) do—or don't do."

The Senate hearings on the defense appropriations bill saw the argument developed further: Sen. Homer Ferguson (R. Mich.) remarked that the proposed appropriations represented "an economy budget, rather than a national defense budget." Defense Secretary Wilson replied that it was "a national defense budget" but that "no military strategy can be developed in an economic vacuum." The Joint Committee on the Economic Report, however, commented earlier: "It is not our function to determine how many airwings, ships or divisions are necessary. . . . However . . . in our opinion, the economy is capable of meeting safely additional military expenditures if such expenditures are necessary for our military security."

Republicans Reply

Efforts to counter "misconceptions" were promptly made by three ranking Republicans. In the April issue of "Foreign Affairs," Secretary Dulles said, "Initially this reshaping of the military program was misconstrued in various respects." He said the U. S. does not intend to rely wholly on large-scale strategic bombing; insisted that the program is by no means a move away from collective security; explained that while some troop withdrawals are appropriate following the end of the Korean fighting, the striking force of those remaining is great; and there is no intention of pulling U. S. forces out of Europe.

Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland (R. Calif.), writing in the New York Times Magazine, said, "Instant retaliation means that if and when the United States national interest requires active resistance to further Communist aggression, reprisal would be appropriate to the area and the objective."

At a news conference, President Eisenhower called attention to conditions under which a new war would have to be fought in comparison with World War II: all that the New Look is, he said, is an attempt by intelligent people to keep abreast of the times.

Square Dance Fete Opens In Dallas, Tex. For 50,000 People

By BRUCE HENDERSON

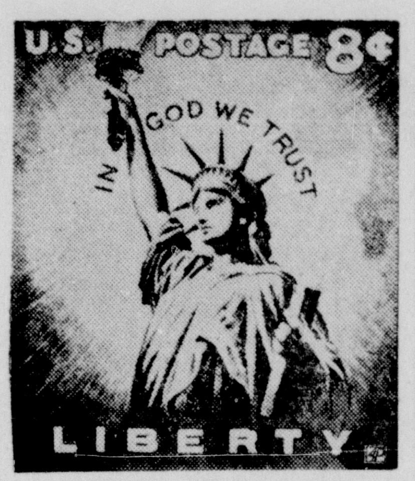
DALLAS (AP)—Fifty thousand of the friendliest people in the country are gathering in Dallas to dance, if their feet match their enthusiasm, 15 hours a day.

They're coming for the three-day National Square Dance Festival starting Thursday. The 50,000 dancers, callers and musicians the festival's boosters say will be here make it the biggest ever held.

Dancing will go on continuously from 9 a.m. until midnight in the 75,000 - square-foot Automobile Building at State Fair Park.

There will be clinics for square dance musicians and callers and a parade of states.

The shindig is sponsored by the Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce. Profits go to crippled and underprivileged children.



NEW STAMP—President Dwight Eisenhower personally will introduce a new red-white-and-blue Liberty eight-cent postage stamp (above) on a television program (April 8). The stamp, which will have its greatest use on international mail, is centered by the Statue of Liberty. The stamp is the first to carry the national motto: "In God We Trust." It is designed to carry a message of faith and hope throughout the world. (AP Wirephoto)

Front Lines Safest In Atomic Conflict, British Hero Thinks

LONDON (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery thinks the safest place to be if a war breaks out is "in the front line with the fighting soldiers"—because he believes both sides will be using atomic weapons from the outset.

The hero of El Alamein, said "if you're in the forward area, he (the enemy) cannot drop on you explosions which have a killing effect over a wide area because he will kill all his own soldiers too."

Bones Returned

TOKYO (AP)—The bones of Genghis Khan, Mongol conqueror of the 13th century, have been returned to Inner Mongolia, Peiping radio said. Lindbergh To Help Air College Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has named Charles A. Lindbergh to a five-man board charged with the task of selecting a site for the new Air Force academy.

Two other civilians were appointed to the board by Secretary Talbott. They are Virgil M. Hancher, president of the University of Iowa, and Merrill C. Meigs, vice president of the Hearst Corp., Chicago.

The military members are Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, first chief of staff of the Air Force and a member of a previous academy site selection board, and Lt. Gen Hubert R. Harmon, special assistant to the chief of staff for Air Force academy matters.

Congress has authorized the Air Force to establish an academy. It required the Air Force secretary to select the site recommended by the commission if its recommendation is unanimous.

Failing unanimity by the board, the secretary must select a site from among the first three recommended by the five-man group.

There is spirited contention by a variety of communities to be selected as the home of the academy, which would be similar to the Army's West Point and the Navy's Annapolis.

Lindbergh was recently made a brigadier general in the Air Force reserve. The famed flier resigned his commission as a reserve colonel shortly before World War II in a difference of opinion with President Roosevelt. He later served in a civilian capacity in the Pacific fighting.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at the Fair Store, Escanaba. (Adv.)

Good Rains Would Help Business In Kansas City Area

By SAM DAWSON

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In this area where the economy is neatly balanced between agriculture and industry the big questions today are:

How good will the spring rains be?

And will the nation's industrial activity to which Kansas City is tied more closely now by its post-war industrialization boom level off soon and start back up again, maybe after Labor Day, to give this region another chance at setting new records?

Farmers Pinched

Both sides of the economy are off a little around here now. Farmers aren't buying as much from the stores. Layoffs are spotted here and there among the factories, with a cutback in defense spending getting much of the blame. More people are out of work than last year and new jobs are harder to come by. Building is off a little.

But folk here show no signs of alarm. Some feel as many stock market traders seem to that the country is having a short business lull and see signs that inflation may start up again afterwards.

"The present generation around here has been through so many crises," says James M. Kemper, chairman of the Commerce Trust Co., "that it tends to take them in stride. People don't panic easily anymore.

"Younger folk particularly go on spending, because the advent of old age and other social security benefits has changed buying attitudes. Young couples feel more like spending in the present and letting Uncle Sam take care of their old age. Their grandparents weren't like that—and a business dip could start a scare."

Economy Still Healthy

So the banker feels that spending won't be down too much, although the loss of overtime pay and shorter work weeks may lead many to be more cautious.

Kemper sees Kansas City as unhurt yet—down a little from the peak, as everyone expected it would be some day—but the economy still healthy. He hopes for a more noticeable pickup after Labor Day.

"Business sentiment here is good," a newspaper executive says. "And long as the psychology of the public stays as healthy as it is today, Kansas City will go on doing all right."

Several good rains would help, too.

TERRITORIAL FIRST

Spring Bear Hunting Not Asked By MUCC

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Members of the Michigan United Conservation clubs have asked the Conservation Commission to permit bear hunting in two Upper Peninsula counties from Sept. 7 to 15.

The request did not ask "spring" bear hunting as reported Monday by The Associated Press.

The clubs passed the resolution Sunday in Kalamazoo asking the special season for this year only. The group said hunts have already been planned by them for this time. The clubs said they hoped to hunt in Chippewa and Schoolcraft counties.

A bird closely allied to the whip-poor-will is found in the Western part of the United States and called the poor-will.

Telling Patient About Cancer Tough Decision To Make, Doctors Say

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP)—Should a doctor "tell" a patient if he has cancer—or should he hide the information from him?

A small group of doctors, interviewed separately—and at random—at the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians, were agreed that there's "no set answer" to the question, admittedly one of the toughest they have to face in practice.

The decision largely depends, they said, on the emotional make-up of the patient—and each case has to be handled individually.

But, in general, according to most of the doctors:

1. If the patient is an emotionally stable type who can "take it," then tell him.
2. If he's the type who might "go to pieces" emotionally, don't tell him. As one doctor put it, telling such a person he has cancer might even lead to suicide.

And one of the doctors said it's well to "individualize" not only for people who have an incurable cancer, but also for those who might have a cancer possibly curable by surgery, X-ray or radium.

"The very word 'cancer' still scares some people," said Dr. George Miller of Long Beach, N. Y., adding that people of that type should not be told what they have even though the particular cancer might be—and actually is—cured.

A compilation of the ideas of the doctors on why people should be told, if at all possible, is as follows:

(1) The personal desire of everyone to arrange his own financial and other matters; (2) the possibility that the patient, knowing his time was relatively short, might want to do something he wanted to do all his life, like take a long trip, or even, as one doctor put it, "be like a friend of mine who, on learning he had an incurable cancer, decided he'd go back and finish out law school"; and (3) the possibility that the patient might wish to provide an example of quiet courage that would be helpful to others in time of adversity.

Reo Plant To Be Sold In Lansing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Reo Motors, one of the pioneers of the automobile industry, is on the way toward sale.

Its board of directors Monday approved the 50-year-old firm's sale for $16,500,000 to Henny Motors Co., Inc., of Freeport, Ill., subject to stockholder approval.

Joseph Sherer Jr., president of Reo, and C. Russell Feldmann, president of Henny, said in a joint statement that the sale would include all assets and all liabilities of Reo.

Feldman, principal stockholder in Henny, said, "It is our intention to continue operation of the business and we hope with the cooperation of Reo management and personnel to expand operations."

No date was set for the stockholder vote on the proposed sale.

Henny makes bodies for special motor vehicles including ambulances, hearses and others. It also does special body prefabricating. It employs 300 men.

Reo, which employs 3,900 workers, in recent years has been essentially a truck manufacturer. It also makes transit coaches and school buses and power lawn mowers, children's vehicles, playground equipment, and other products. It left the passenger car field some years ago.

Forgetful Chicagoan Finally Finds Car He Mislaid Feb. 25

CHICAGO (AP)—A flash of memory and a persistent wife Monday enabled Herbert Livermore, 35, to recover his automobile which he had been unable to find since Feb. 25.

On that date, a police squad car stopped him for driving without lights. Livermore said he admitted to "a couple of drinks" and the policemen parked his car, wrote the location on the back of his driver's license, gave him the keys, and put him on a bus for home.

Livermore lost the driver's license, couldn't remember the car's location and couldn't find the policeman who parked the car.

But he remembered the number 300 had some connection with the incident.

In a borrowed automobile, his wife, Wanda, 31, combed the 300 blocks of Chicago streets and Monday she found it in front of 310 S. Green St., a short distance west of the Loop.

The Hobby of the Month talk for the April meeting of the Chicago and Northwestern Woman's Club Monday at Grenier's Hall was given by Mrs. Victor Nelson.

She displayed a collection of antique glass and told an interesting story of how she acquired each piece. Her advice was, "don't throw away very old dishes or furniture until they have been appraised by a reliable antique dealer".

She said that the book, "Treasures in the Attic", tells how different people made valuable finds among articles considered worthless.

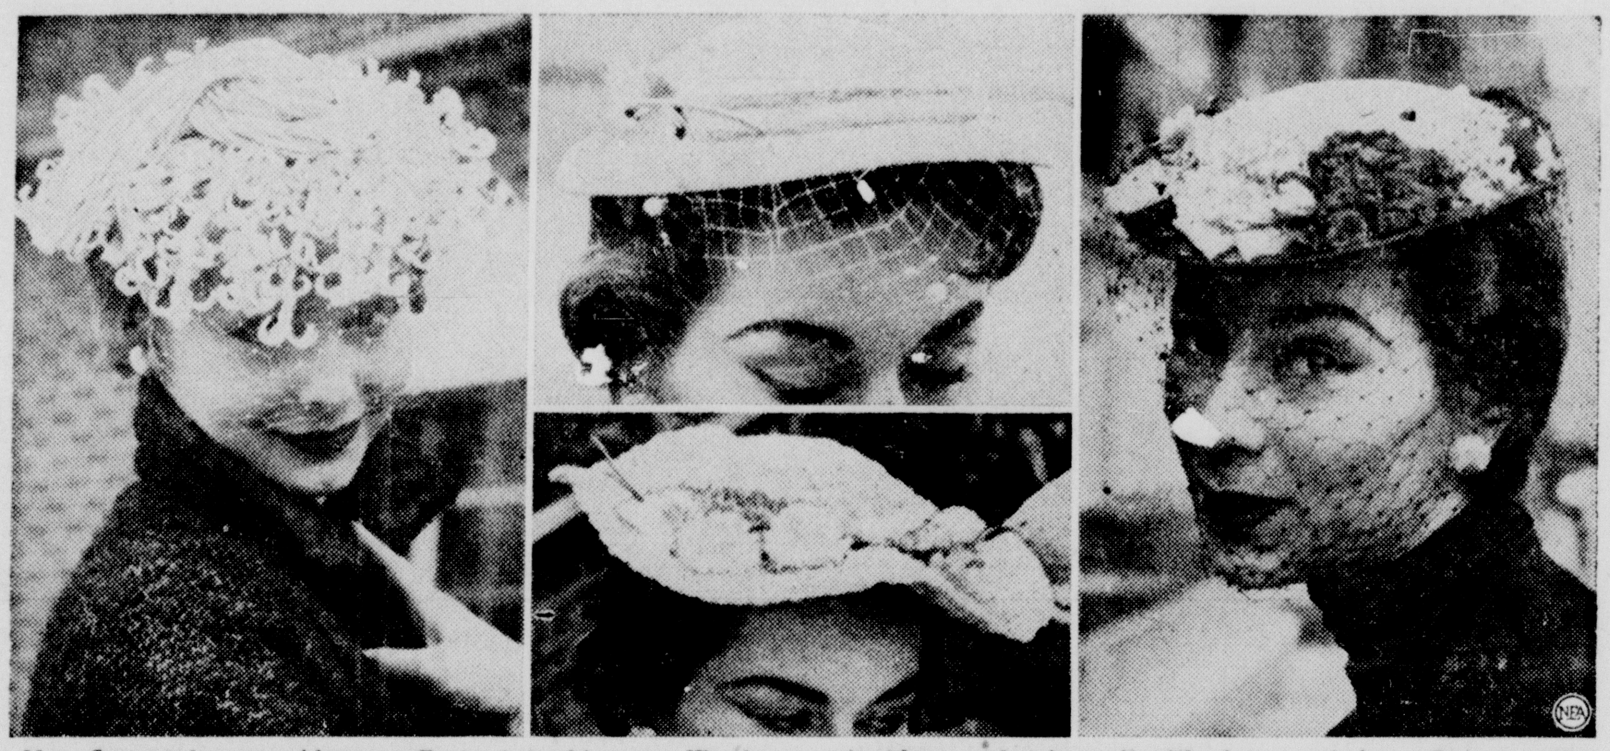
Easter Hats: Just Plain Pretty



More flowers than ever bloom on Easter hats this year We show here four versions, all of them small and all of them flower-laden. Plateau of pink honeysuckle blossoms (left) by Laddie Northridge has green organdy stems massed at tip of crown with ends swirled to one side. Shallow young cloche in citron yellow toyo (upper center) is banded with three tones of cashmere embroidery and trimmed with daisy and bee. Bonnet with rippled brim (lower center) by Harryson is natural rough straw, has clover blossoms tucked into the ripples. Narrow oval sailor of natural milan (right) is by Chanda, has brim faced with leaf-green silk jersey. Crown is circled with pink and red roses. The all-flower hat also will star in the Easter parade in tiny versions.

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The hat you wear in the Easter parade this year will be just plain pretty. And the reason for this femininity is that the suit or coat you pick for parading will be slim, with simple lines, providing the perfect foil for a fragile, flower-laden hat.

There are lots of flower trims this year, far more than in past Easters. And the flower hat looks not only pretty but smart. Little flower - covered shells, the hat made to look like a Victorian nosegay, and daisies or lilacs pressed into sailors or bretons, all have a refreshing newness to offer.

The tint of your flowered hat may be in the pink to red tones, may be one of the nasturtium colors or may be a fresh, flattering white. If your suit or coat has collar and cuffs in white, you can find good company for it in a white hat or you can spark it with color by picking a vibrant pink or red.

For the silk suit or dress, print or plain, there are fragile organdy and straw confections that provide the needed delicacy.

A brim is any size at all this spring, from a mere rim to the truly large hat that, this year, is anchored firmly to the head by means of those little grippers developed since last Easter.

For women who are wearing long-haired furs with their Easter suits, the small hat in chiffon or organdy is the best bet. There are many such small hats in forward, profile or level-headed treatments. Some of these are pleated, some draped, and some embroidered.

Control Of Gout Believed Near

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) — The way may have been opened toward eventual complete control of gout—one of mankind's oldest and peskiest afflictions — the American College of Physicians was told tod .

Dr. Elmer C. Bartels of Boston's Lahey Clinic said the possibility is suggested by promising results with a drug called "Benemid."

He told the ACP's annual meeting that there still are "many problems" associated with the use of the drug—chief of which is the fact that sometimes a patient may suffer recurring attacks of his gout during periods up to nine months after Benemid treatment is begun.

But he declared that "most cases" are eventually brought under control by the substance, sometimes in combination with other medicines.

The drug works by drawing troublesome uric acid from the gouty tissues.

Judge Picard, who approved the suit settlement, awarded $150,000 to Perlman, Goodman, Hecht and Chesler of Chicago; $40,000 to Lemuel B. Schofield and Associates of Philadelphia, and $2,000 to Norman Anneberg of New York City.

HARRISBURG (AP) — It's getting tougher to be "private eye" in Pennsylvania.

Under a recent law, however, the would-be detective is required to put up $200 in fees and post a $10,000 bond. In addition he must supply his photographs and fingerprints.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS BROUGHT ME THE RELIEF I WANTED

"I used to sit up in bed at night and cry because the pains of arthritis were unbearable," says Mrs. Louise Busch, 111 W. Dakota St., Detroit.

Mrs. L. Busch

"I must tell you how thankful I am for your wonderful O-JIB-WA BITTERS. It was about a year and a half ago that the terrible pains of arthritis struck me down. There were times that I couldn't walk and it just about killed me to use the stairs. It began in my feet by curling up my toes and then went into my legs and knees. Then before long, one finger on my hand would lock into place and I would drop a paring knife or whatever I was holding. Many nights I would sit up in bed and cry because I just didn't know what to do. It was so painful. I spent lots of money trying other medicines, but nothing would help me. I read in the newspapers about the amazing results that other people received by using O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I frankly doubted them, so I wrote a letter to one lady in Bad Axe, Michigan, asking about her story in the paper. She wrote and told me how it had helped her, and assured me that her story in the paper was absolutely true. Then I went to see another lady in Detroit whose name was also in the newspaper. She also confirmed her testimonial, and convinced me that O-JIB-WA BITTERS was worth a try. It took about six weeks before I could see much results, but after that I felt like a new woman. I continued taking it for several months and can truthfully say that I am well now. I can walk good, sleep well and feel better all around. I tell everybody that I know who suffers like I did to try O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I always have a large bottle of your wonderful medicine on hand, as I wouldn't be without it again. Because of the new lease on life it brought to me, I would say that O-JIB-WA BITTERS is certainly a remarkable medicine."

Volunteer Fire Unit Planned At Thompson

THOMPSON—A resolution for formation of a volunteer's firemen's unit was unanimously adopted by the Thompson Township Board at a meeting held April 3 in the town hall with Ernest Hoholik, supervisor, presiding.

The resolution had been previously prepared by Supervisor Hoholik and was presented at the meeting by Larry Marlowe.

It also calls for payment of a flat wage whenever it is necessary for Manistique firemen to be called on a fire in the township.

The problem of rat extermination was discussed at length during the board meeting and a motion was passed for purchase of rat poison for use on a "dump" located on the Thomas Smith property. Board members asked that each person in the township cooperate in bringing the rat problem under control.

Ernest Hoholik was re-elected liquor inspector and health officer for the township.

A schedule of salaries for the coming year was approved by the board as presented, with exception of a $25 a year raise for the township treasurer. The salary schedule approved was as follows: Supervisor, $400.00; clerk, $350.00; treasurer, $325.00; health officer, $40; trustee, $10 per meeting, including special meetings, annual meetings and settlement meetings.

Also on the schedule were the following: Posting notices, $10; treasurer for tax collection, $10 per day; supervisor for assessment of the 1955 tax roll, $150.00; writing of the tax roll, $100.00; general wage scale, including service on election board, $1.00 per hour.

Importance Of Citizenship Training Emphasized At Teachers Institute Here

Citizenship education is one of the most important fields in which a high school curriculum for 11th and 12th grade students should provide training, G. Robert Koopman, associate superintendent for the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, declared here Tuesday.

Koopman delivered the opening address for the biennial County Teachers' Institute held in Manistique High School auditorium under chairmanship of Mrs. Ludwig Hough, county school superintendent. Approximately 80 Schoolcraft County teachers attended.

Five trends in building a curriculum for the last two years of high school were outlined by the speaker. They include, he said, citizenship education, science training, development of personal skills for effective human relations, achievement of vocational-economic competence, and development of ability for creative and artistic living.

Ability For Expression

The education superintendent stressed that school training should prepare an individual to meet problems from "adulthood to the grave."

Citizenship education is important because if the free world concept continues, there will be more self government in future years, he explained. Scientific training is necessary in modern education because science enables man to better solve his daily problems, not because of the atom or hydrogen bomb, he observed.

In discussing development of abilities for creative and artistic expression, Koopman noted that future generations will need it if they are to be able to retire at 60 and not "crack up."

Skill In Human Relations

Dr. Loraine Shepard of Michigan State College school of education discussed "The Elementary School in Today's World" for the Schoolcraft teachers. Observing that many problems of the present world are "essentially problems in human relations," the MSC educator urged teachers to strive to be better human beings themselves, and to apply their knowledge of child growth and behavior in the classroom.

One question teachers should critically ask is, "Have we divorced ourselves from intellectual and scholastic snobbery?" she stated. The work of millions of people is necessary to provide our present level of well-being, she observed, and many of these are not educated. "They are ignorant, yet learned; intelligent, and not so intelligent," she explained.

To achieve skill in human relations, a child must have a chance to practice in the classroom through constructive participation in group activities and contact with fellow students, she concluded.

MHS Musicians Play

The day-long conference Tuesday included a book exhibit by Samuel Molod, of Escanaba, state library consultant; a forum discussion led by Lillah Olson, health educator for the Michigan Department of Health; and a panel discussion on education improvement led by Robert E. Martin, consultant for the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Arthur Baker, director of local services for the state department of health, was scheduled to speak but was unable to attend. Health education was emphasized in discussions.

The Manistique High School band, directed by Joseph L. Giovannini, and the MHS massed chorus, directed by Douglas Harding, performed during the institute. The invocation was given by the Rev. A. Barton Brown, pastor of the Manistique First Baptist church.

Hiawatha Voters Approve $55,000 School Bond Issue

Voters in Hiawatha Township turned out in large numbers Tuesday and approved a $55,000 bond issue for funds with which to build a new 4-room school.

The first proposition, on bonding the township, received the support of 117 taxpayers and was opposed by 104. The second proposition, to raise the present 15-mill levy eight mills received affirmative votes from 125 electors and was opposed by 106.

About three months will be needed to make all arrangements for sale of the bonds, and construction will start afterwards, Charles Burley, president of the Hiawatha Board of Education, said.

A total of 232 ballots were cast in the special election.

In July, 1952, voters of the township rejected a proposal to bond the township for $85,000 and raise the tax levy by 15 mills to finance a new school. Since that time, the board of education has established a building fund, and a $55,000 bond issue was asked this time.

The township now operates three schools, all of which are about 50 years old.

Nine Lettermen Return On St. Joseph Baseball Team

With a long list of returning lettermen back from last year's squad to form the nucleus of the 1954 team, St. Joseph High School baseball workouts got under way this week in the Trojan gym.

Coach Tom St. Germain began running his ball players through preliminary workouts while waiting for the weather to warm up enough to work outside.

The Trojans will embark on a 10-game schedule later this month. They face the Stephenson Eagles in the first game on the list but exact dates of games have not been set as yet.

The St. Joe pitching staff is back intact from last year with three starting chuckers available. Righthanders John Berrigan and Gary Paler and southpaw Dick Cass all earned letters with the Trojans last season. Cass is a senior, the other two are sophomores.

St. Joe also has its No. 1 receiver, Bill Maycunich, back from last year and the entire infield with the exception of shortstop is returning. Lettermen are Gary Guertin at first base, Billy Lancour at second and Bob Rodman at third. Regular shortstop Bob Sendenburgh was lost through graduation.

In the outfield, St. Joe will have two lettermen back. Bob Dubord and Mike Goymerac earned letters in the garden last year. Dick Bryson is ineligible for further St Joe athletics because of participation in independent basketball and will not be with the team.

The Trojans, who won seven of 12 games last season, will play games with Stephenson, Gladstone, Escanaba, Bark River, Powers, Stephenson and Negaunee this season.

In addition to the nine returning lettermen, St. Germain has nine other candidates for positions on the squad.

The Trojans will play all home games at the Escanaba city diamond again this season.

Davey Returns To Ring Wars Tonight

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Chuck Davey, the educated southpaw from Lansing, Mich., renews his campaign for another crack at the welterweight title when he meets Gerald Dreyer of Pretoria, South Africa in a 10-round fight tonight at the Oakland Auditorium.

The contest will be nationally televised starting at 9 p.m. (CST).

Davey has been installed as a mild favorite to beat the former British Empire champion.

Davey hopes to use the fight as a springboard for another chance at Kid Gavilan's welter crown. He lost to Gavilan in their championship set-to slightly more than a year ago. Dreyer also is seeking a title shot.

Hockey Sidelights

Escanaba's success in winning the Upper Peninsula hockey championship and the famed Doc Gibson trophy is a tribute to great team spirit, determination and devotion to an objective to an extent seldom equalled in U. P. sports circles.

* * *

Without going into a lengthy eulogy of the Hawks' tremendous uphill battle from the Northern Michigan Hockey League cellar to capturing the coveted Gibson cup, it is necessary only to say that the Escanaba players simply made up their minds to go out and win the championship and win it they did!

* * *

A short rink, late start, untimely thaws that ruined natural ice and cut the home season short, poor equipment, shortage of players, lack of depth and luke-warm fan support with the exception of the loyal 400 to 500 represented handicaps the Hawks faced.

* * *

To many teams the handicaps would have been too great and a lack-luster playoff showing would have been the result.

* * *

But sparked by Mark Olson's drive and confidence, Ben Artwich's unrelenting desire to see Escanaba win the title and to other examples of contagious enthusiasm, the Hawks caught fire and played championship hockey when the chips were down.

* * *

Many people close to the team have remarked with an unbelieving shake of the head that they never saw a team with such spirit and determination to win.

* * *

There were lots of big ones . . . The one-game edge on Marquette in the opener . . . The third and deciding game against Marquette after a fired-up Sentinel sextet had squared the series decisively in the second game . . . The tremendous comeback against Portage Lake for an 8-7 win after trailing by 2-7 the first 16 minutes of play . . . The 4-3 win over the Pioneers to square the series at 2-2 . . . And then the REAL big one, the 3-2 sudden death overtime win last Sunday.

* * *

All were "must" wins if Escanaba was to win the title. An uphill fight all the way . . . three-game limit against Marquette and five games with Portage with the final decision depending on one goal in the sudden death overtime. Big Ted Olson had it as he had it in scoring the tying and the winning marker in that all-important 8-7 second game. And Mark Olson's adroit handling of players with different temperaments, split second strategical moves and his drive and play-making talents along with Joe Ricci and Burt Petaja paved the way.

* * *

It is impossible to give due credit to all the Hawks because it was a team triumph.

* * *

Cuff notes: Burt Petaja made a big difference . . . A help on both offense and defense . . . Doug Peterson's remarkable improvement from a lackadaisical start to the point where he was a powerhouse in the playoffs . . . He was like a rock on defense and could carry the puck out of danger . . . Joe Bukovich said keeping "Pete" on defense in the deciding game was a big factor in Escanaba's success . . . Ted Olson was the real clutch scorer of the series . . . His comeback this season was tremendous.

* * *

Joe Ricci, the breakaway ace, and Buddy Provo improved steadily to help forge a championship Esky team . . . Bill Suriano proved himself a puck hawk . . . He was always in some opponent's hair when least expected . . . Provo's back checking made a big difference.

* * *

It was a championship caliber team that reached its peak in the playoffs . . . The first line had the scoring punch . . . The line of Provo, Suriano and alternately Petaja and Peterson kept the opponents from scoring . . . And the defense settled down to give Artwich the help he needed to put Escanaba on top . . . Hamilton came through, Jim Ogle and Clarence Matt were effective and with some help from Peterson on the blue line in the final game, the Hawks copped the big one.

* * *

Messages of congratulations were received from the Houghton Mining Gazette and Marquette Mining Journal . . . "Mining Journal sports staff congratulates Escanaba Hawks for winning Gibson cup . . . Best team won great series . . ."

* * *

". . . I think their victory is a little short of miraculous considering that with them hockey is a by-product as they all have families and responsible jobs that come first . . ." said John W. Rice, publisher of the Houghton Gazette.

* * *

All the more to the credit of the Escanaba hockey team is the fact that it won the Upper Peninsula championship without playing even one of eight playoff games on its home ice, a distinct advantage recognized in all sports.

* * *

The Hawks had to play "home" games in Marquette because of lack of ice here . . . The small exhibition building ice rink went with the thaw in mid-March.

* * *

Perhaps the Hawks' storybook, Frank Merriwell finish will have a "rags to riches" theme as well if their success in winning the Upper Peninsula championship will lead to artificial ice in Escanaba.

Tigers Happy; Garver Looks Good In Defeat

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—With less than a week to go before the umpire yells, "play ball!" at Briggs Stadium for the first time in 1954, Ned Garver, Detroit's curve-balling righthander, seemed to be hitting his pitching stride.

Garver once carried a $300,000 price tag after winning 20 games for the last-place, former St. Louis Browns in 1951.

The Tigers got him two years ago but his magic disappeared.

First it was arm trouble. And last year the handsome hurler was ineffective because of a trick knee.

The knee was operated on during the off-season and Garver said that he was again in fine physical shape.

Was Brief Holdout

But after a brief holdout this spring, Garver failed to live up to Manager Fred Hutchinson's hopes until Tuesday.

Although pitching in a losing cause—the Tigers dropped a 4-0 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies—Garver looked like a money winner.

He worked seven innings, gave up only five hits and had the Phillies popping the ball into the air. In 15 previous innings, Garver had been tagged for 19 runs on 24 hits.

Detroit matched Philadelphia in the hitting department. Each team collected eight safeties. But Philadelphia bunched theirs while Murry Dickson and Jim Konstanty, the eventual winner, scattered the Detroit hits.

Fatal Seventh

Garver had faced only 20 batters in six innings before the fatal seventh. Then he loaded the bases and Smoky Burgess singled home what proved to be the clinching run.

But the Phillies added three insurance runs. Two came at the expense of Lefty Al Aber in the 8th and the third on a bases empty homer by Willie Jones off Ralph Branca, the former Brooklyn Dodger hurler, in the last frame.

The Tigers were scheduled to meet the Philadelphia team for the last time in exhibition play today.

Red Wings Are Furious Over Officiating After 3-1 Loss

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Furious over the officiating, the Detroit Red Wings blasted referee Red Storey today after Maurice Richard of the Montreal Canadiens had squared the Stanley Cup hockey finals at a game apiece.

Breaking out of a slump, Richard fired two goals in 31 seconds Tuesday night to lead the Canadiens to a 3-1 victory over the Red Wings.

In the steamy Detroit dressing room after the game, general manager Jack Adams, purple with rage, claimed Storey failed to call a penalty against Montreal in the first period for having too many men on the ice.

Penalty On Howe

From the press box, it seemed clear that the Canadiens had more than six players on the ice at one time during a change of lines and actual play.

"But what did Storey do?" Adams asked. "He blew his whistle and put off our Gordie Howe for high sticking."

As it turned out, Howe's penalty was the start of Detroit's downfall. Just 19 seconds later teammate Tony Leswick followed him into the penalty box for slashing. That gave the Canadiens a two-man advantage for one minute and 41 seconds, and they scored all three goals within that time.

Rocket Takes Off

Dickie Moore clicked at 15:02. Then Richard, pointless in five playoff games, scored twice in 31 seconds, rapping in a 20-footer at 15:28 and a 10-foot backhander at 15:59.

Detroit got a gift goal in the second period when Butch Bouchard, Montreal's veteran defenseman, accidentally slapped the puck into his own goal while attempting to clear it.

Storey was escorted from the arena by a half dozen policemen as irate fans showered him with orange peels, paper cups and newspapers. He had no comment.

The Canadiens now are favorites as the best-of-seven series shifts to Montreal for the next two games Thursday and Saturday.

Orioles Find Opening Day Hurler In Larsen

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Baltimore manager Jimmy Dykes has found an opening-day pitcher by the simple method of announcing the job was open.

Unless Dykes second guesses himself between today and Tuesday, it will be fireballing Don Larsen.

He clinched the job Tuesday in Hattiesburg, Miss., when he blew down the Chicago Cubs on five hits in a 13-2 victory. The handsome right-hander went the route for the first time this spring.

Open With Tigers

Baltimore will make its debut in Detroit against the Tigers.

The Tigers were beaten Tuesday by the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 although Ned Garver held the Phils scoreless through six innings. A 475-foot double by Del Ennis in the eighth drove in two runs and Willie Jones homered off Ralph Branca in the ninth.

The Philadelphia Athletics and the Pittsburgh Pirates, both definite threats to last place in their own leagues, slammed each other's pitching for 37 hits, including nine homers, in a 17-10 contest won by the A's. Gus Zernial and Bill Renna of the A's and Frank Thomas of the Pirates hit two home runs each at Montgomery, Ala.

Base hits boomed in Lynchburg, Va., too as the Cincinnati Redlegs trounced Washington 18-1. The Reds slammed 20 hits, three of them home runs.

Nichols Is Shelled

Chet Nichols, Milwaukee's big pitching hope, was blasted by the Boston Red Sox, who beat the Braves 10-5. The Red Sox hammered Nichols for seven hits before he gave way to Phil Paine in the third.

The New York Giants bowed to Cleveland 10-5 and contributed four errors to their defeat. A two-run home run by Al Rosen broke up a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning.

Stan Musial hit a home run with two aboard and Rip Repulski hit his fourth homer of the spring as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Chicago White Sox 9-2. Vic Raschi and Stu Miller checked the Sox on seven hits.

The New York Yankees were held at bay for six innings by Clair Parkin, a Red Sox minor leaguer, before coming to life for a 7-2 triumph over Greensboro of the class B Carolina League. Parkin gave the champs only five hits.

Jeffcoat Will Hurl For Chicago Cubs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs is going to give outfielder Hal Jeffcoat a chance to pitch.

The light-hitting Jeffcoat will make his mound debut in a three inning test in today's final game of the spring series with the Baltimore Orioles. Jeffcoat, six seasons with the Cubs, never has pitched competitively, but club coaches believe he can do it.

Jeffcoat, who is 29, batted .235 last year.

Brooklyn Only Team Set For Opening Day

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league baseball season is only six days off but only the Brooklyn Dodgers have a guaranteed lineup for opening day. Battles for positions have not yet been settled on the other 15 teams.

For instance, manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals still hasn't come to a permanent decision regarding his regular shortstop and first baseman. The principals are rookie Alex Grammas and Solly Hemus at shortstop and rookie Tom Alston and Steve Bilko at first. Alston is the superior fielder but Bilko has been hitting more than 100 points higher than the 6-5 Negro.

The Danny O'Connell-Jack Dittmer battle for the Milwaukee second base job is still raging.

The Cincinnati right field position is still being hotly contended for by rookie Wally Post and Lloyd Merriman, a returning serviceman. It may be that Post will be used against lefthanded pitching and Merriman will face righthanders.

Catching Problem

Al Rice, Cal Abrams, Gene Hermanski and Dick Hall are battling for the left field berth with Pittsburgh.

Wes Westrum's comeback has muddled up the New York Giants' catching situation. Originally, manager Leo Durocher had designated rookie Ray Katt as his No. 1 backstop but Westrum's resurgence apparently has won back for him the No. 1 rating.

Manager Steve O'Neill of the Philadelphia Phillies has decided to alternate veteran Johnny Wyrostek and Mel Clark, in right field, at least for the time being.

Rookie Bob Talbot has been used a great deal in the Chicago Cubs' outfield this spring but veteran Frankie Baumholtz has been so torrid at the plate in recent weeks that he might win back his centerfield post.

Agganis Makes Bid

Boston Red Sox first baseman Dick Gernert is having his hands full trying to ward off rookie Harry Agganis. They'll probably divide the job. Ted Lepcio, a dark horse candidate for shortstop, has been doing such a whale of a job during Milt Bolling's absence due to injury, that he may open the season there.

Luke Easter appears to have won the Cleveland first base assignment from Rocky Nelson and Bill Glynn but it may be that Al Rosen will be switched there to make room for Rudy Regalado, the red hot rookie, at third base.

Detroit manager Fred Hutchinson is thinking of starting rookies Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline in center and left field, respectively. However, Bill Nieman and Steve Souchock are still under consideration.

Right Field Open

The Chicago White Sox right field position is still unsettled. It all depends on where Minnie Minoso will play. If the hard-hitting outfielder is moved to third base, manager Paul Richards will have to decide between Willard Marshall and Bob Boyd, both left-handed hitters, for right field.

Bucky Harris of Washington still hasn't made up his mind between Clyde Vollmer and Roy Sievers for left field.

Rookie Al Robertson is giving veteran Joe Astroth a battle for the No. 1 catching job with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees must decide who will open the season at first base. A month ago, the choice lay between Joe Collins and Eddie Robinson. Now, rookie Bill Skowron, with a tremendous batting display, has thrust himself into the battle.

More U. S. Road Funds Expected

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON (CQ) — Uncle Sam is shifting into high gear on the federal-aid highway program, and under new legislation, Michigan stands to get from $27,421,000 to $31,093,000 compared to the $19,363,779 apportioned to it for fiscal year 1955.

Congress now has before it the biggest road building bill in history; The Federal-aid Highway Act of 1954. The House March 8 passed its version, which would authorize expenditures of $800 million in each of fiscal 1956 and 1957, for primary, secondary, urban and interestate system roads.

The Senate Public Works Committee March 25 proposed to increase the annual authorizations for Federal-aid systems to $910 million for each year. The fiscal 1955 authorization is a mere $575 million. The present cost of highway improvement projects programmed, planned or being built in Michigan amounts to $81,015,000. Some $37,383,000 in federal funds are now available for these projects, and they involve 620.6 miles of roads.

Biennial Authorizations

Under the continuing federal-aid highway program, Congress makes biennial authorizations and apportions the money to the states on a formula which, under the present law, is based on population, area and mileage of rural mail routes. It appropriates the necessary funds, within the authorizations, as they are needed.

States normally match the federal funds on a 50-50 basis. The authorization act gives state legislatures their go-ahead to set up projects.

Why the stepped-up program? First, 55 million motor vehicles crowd the nation's highways. Some 63.8 per cent of the mileage on federal-aid road systems needs improvement at a cost of $35 billion, according to the Senate Public Works Committee.

Second, as the Senate Committee said, "... highway construction is well adapted to a step-up in volume and would assist greatly in stimulating employment" in more serious recession.

Third, President Eisenhower has said his Administration hopes to devote to the highway improvement program amounts equal to revenues from the federal gasoline tax. The tax yielded nearly $900 million in fiscal 1953.

Missionary Also Is Converted

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Navajo tribal leaders have paid high tribute to Fr. Berard Haile, Catholic priest who has done missionary work on the reservation almost half a century.

The priest was told by a Navajo medicine man recently:

"You came to the Navajos to make Christians out of us. The Navajos have made a Navajo out of you."

Made Queer Money, Got Into Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two printers counterfeited U. S. currency, then lit cigarettes with $5 and $10 bills and tossed the "money" around in a bar. Some bills later showed up in Honlulu.

In placing the men on three years' probation, Federal Judge Michael J. Roche declared the weird gag was the "most nonsensical" thing he ever encountered.

We have a considerable number of prospects for two-bedroom homes. These prospects for the most part are older folks whose families have grown up and gone, leaving them alone in homes much too large for their limited requirements. They are willing and able to sell or trade for less spacious surroundings, thus making their present larger homes available to younger folks with growing families. If you have a family which is outgrowing your present two-bedroom home and wish to trade it or sell for a larger home, or if you just have a small home to sell we suggest you do it now! List your home with us and be confident of getting the best possible price and most satisfactory transaction.

REMEMBER—the most desirable properties and prospects are available to you—through us.

GROWING SPIRITUALLY

By
E. STANLEY JONES

Acts 27:27-29 (Moffatt)

OUR SECURITIES ARE SHATTERED

We said yesterday that the flash of the atomic bomb exposed our civilization as questionably Christian and hence afraid. A newspaper columnist said that after the falling of the bomb he walked the streets of Washington for three days and never saw a smile on a single face. Why? Why weren't people elated that we now had the power of the atom on our side? The reason is that they knew instinctively that the bomb had fallen not merely upon Hiroshima; it had fallen on all our securities everywhere. Those securities were gone. The end of the quest for security was insecurity!

This grim picture has a bright spot. It is symbolized in this: A group of Japanese pastors and laymen and a group of foreign missionaries and laymen bowed, as in a football huddle, at the spot where the bomb fell and prayed that no Hiroshima should ever happen to anyone, anywhere, again. And they dedicated themselves anew to peace and to the methods of the Kingdom of God. In that little group was represented that vaster group in every nation unshaken by the falling of a bomb and undismayed by the ruin around them. They belonged to an unshakable Kingdom: "Wherefore we receiving a Kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear" (Heb. 12:28). And they knew that on the ruins of the old they could build a new Order on earth.

One of those pastors arose in his half-ruined church in Hiroshima at the close of an address on the possibility of using pain and suffering and said: "The fire of the flash of the bomb burned our city to ashes, but the Fire of the Spirit of God is burning in our hearts this morning, and this Fire is steadier and stronger than the fires of destruction. The Spirit of love and good will will build the City of God on earth. And it will not be shaken." He belonged to the unshakable Kingdom. And he was not afraid. Anxiety had been pushed out by the great Security. The future belongs to such.

Good God and Father, we thank Thee that we see Thy beckoning Kingdom, beckoning us because it is within us. Amen.

AFFIRMATION FOR THE DAY: I am an unshaken soul, because I belong to an unshakable Kingdom.

Blast Against FDR Jr. Opposed

By DREW PEARSON

Democratic chairman Steve Mitchell held a secret huddle with California Congressmen before issuing his blast against Jimmy Roosevelt and Congressman Robert Condon, of California, then proceeded pretty much to ignore their advice.

Opinion among the Democratic congressmen from California was somewhat mixed. None of them wanted Mitchell to blast Jimmy Roosevelt, though one or two northern Democrats favored his withdrawing support from Congressman Condon.

Opposition to Mitchell was based upon the fact that the Democratic state convention at Fresno had made its choice and it was not the place of the Democratic national chairman sitting in Washington to overrule Democratic process in California. If Mitchell had written his letter before the California Democratic convention, they argued, it would have been a different matter.

This view was taken even by those California congressmen who had privately urged Jimmy Roosevelt not to run.

California congressmen have generally been impressed by Condon's forthright behavior even though they think he is a liability to the Democratic ticket. Those who heard him testify before the joint atomic energy committee say that he waived all immunity without the slighest reservation and answered every question without hesitation.

Senator Bricker of Ohio, who was extremely busy at the time with his Bricker amendment conferences, took time off to attend the atomic committee session which was quizzing Condon. But even his relentless cross-examination failed to faze the Californian.

The general congressional conclusion is that Condon did belong to a law firm which represented Communists but was never a member of the Communist party. They also point out that Wendell Willkie represented one of the most famous Communists, Rose Schneiderman.

Much Wordage In Play Title

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A Yale University lecturer told an audience that back in 1594, a play with this title (try it on today's theater marquee) was produced in England:

"The First Part of the Contention Betwixt the Two Famous Houses of Yorke and Lancaster with the Death of the Good Duke Humphrey; and the Banishment and Death of the Duke of Suffolke; and the Tragicall End of the Proud Cardinall of Winchester, with the Notable Rebellion of Jack Cade; and the Duke of Yorke's First Claime Unto the Crowne."

Ocean studies have become so important that the British have assigned the naval ship Challenger to scientific studies of the sea.
